Parents Arrested in Child Poisoning Case

ARCADIA, Fla. (AP) — DeSoto County Sheriff Frank Cline said today a motive—a father's anticipated collection of life insurance benefits — had been established in the insecticide poisoning deaths a week ago of seven children.

Cline told a news conference he would fly to Jacksonville to investigate the previous deaths of five other children of James Richardson, a citrus picker held here on a child neglect charge.

Cline said he had information that five of Richardson's children, aged 5 months to 7 years, died in Jacksonville "over the past few years."

The sheriff said he would leave Arcadia immediately after a coroner's inquest Thursday.

"The motive was remuneration for life insurance, the cause of death was eating something which contained parathion which was in the pots of food which the children licked clean at noontime the day they died," Cline said.

Cline said he had no immediate word whether cause of death of the children in Jacksonville was accidental. The sheriff said the children were Richardson's by a previous marriage.

Richardson, 32, was originally booked into county jail Tuesday night on a charge of first-degree murder but later warrants were issued charging him and his wife, Annie Mae, 29, with child neglect.

DeSoto County Judge Gordon Hays, present at the news conference, said both he and Sheriff Cline felt there was "enough evidence to file murder charges." But he said State Atty. Frank Shaub of Bradenton and Asst. State Atty. John Treadwell of Arcadia did not concur.

"This is why I am summoning a coroner's inquest . . . to substantiate evidence already on hand," Hays said.

Richardson and his wife voluntarily took lie detector tests Tuesday.

"The polygraph tests showed Richardson had guilty knowledge of the poisoning of the seven children," Hays said.

Results of polygraph tests are not admissible as evidence in Florida courts.

The judge also said laboratory tests showed the children received the parathion in their food. Hays said tests showed traces of the poison on utensils found in the Richardson kitchen.

Six children died Wednesday and the seventh perished the next morning. All were stricken after lunching on plates of grits, rice, beans and hog's head.

Richardson and his wife were in the citrus groves picking oranges when they were informed of the tragedy.

Phil Waldman

Waldman Area Heart Chairman

Phil Waldman, Jr. has been selected as area chairman for the 1968 Heart Fund drive, it was announced today by Dr. M. Graham Clark, Point Lookout, state heart fund chairman.

Waldman will be the key man in the campaign in Dunklin, Mississippi, New Madrid, Pemiscot, Scott and Stoddard counties.

He is county clerk of Scott county and is past president of the Missouri State County Clerks association and past president of the Scott County Young Democrats club. He is a member of the Chamber of Commerce and a Mason.

Waldman served as county chairman of Scott County Heart drive two years and this will be his sixth year as area chairman. He will select the Heart Fund county chairmen.

Seven-Year-Old Blamed in Fatal Train Accident

NORFORK, Ark. (AP)—Arkansas authorities said Tuesday a 7-year-old boy threw a switch that derailed a Missouri Pacific freight train Sunday. One crewman was killed in the crash.

Prosecutor Robert Dudley said the 7-year-old, with another boy of the same age looking on, broke the switch lock with a rock and then threw the switch. The Kansas City - to - Memphis freight, going by several hours later, was turned onto a siding where it hit some bunk cars. Twelve of the 59 cars on the freight derailed.

The fireman, Archie Copeland, 46, of Memphis, Tenn., was killed when he jumped from the freight. Two other crewmen were injured.

The prosecutor said the two boys had been returned to their parents. Arkansas law protects anyone under 12 years of age from prosecution, he said, and the federal government has a similar restriction.

Dudley said the state's laws were being studied for the possibility of some action in juvenile court.

Public Schools Close Today

The public schools will close at 2 p.m. today to give the 227 teachers an early start for the Missouri State teachers Association annual fall convention tomorrow and Friday in St. Louis.

Elementary, secondary and vocational classes will come to a halt for the meeting. Classes will resume Monday.

St. Francis Xavier school classes were dismissed today in observance of All Saints Day. Classes will resume at the Catholic school tomorrow. Catholic school teachers attended teachers convention Sept. 28-29.

Pope Paul Leaves Bed to Greet Crowd

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI left his bed today and appeared at his window to bless a crowd of thousands assembled in St. Peter's Square for All Saint's Day.

The 70-year-old pontiff has been confined to bed since Saturday night after suffering a relapse. But his temperature returned to normal Tuesday, and his doctors permitted him to go to the window on his third-floor apartment today for the special occasion.

The 70-year-old pontiff now is resting and being treated with antibiotics to build up his strength for an operation to correct an enlarged prostate. This is blamed for the urinary infection from which the Pope has suffered since Sept. 4.

Vatican sources say the operation has been tentatively scheduled for around Nov. 10.

Bomb Threat Forces Taylor To Finish Speech Outside

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — A telephone bomb threat disrupted an assembly at Pensacola Junior College Tuesday but the principal speaker, Gen. Maxwell Taylor, finished his speech outside.

Some 1,000 students had assembled in an auditorium to hear Taylor talk on this country's involvement in Vietnam when school officials received the anonymous call.

The audience was evacuated about 25 minutes into Taylor's speech but he finished when they gathered behind the building.

Hubert Lands in Malaysia

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey arrived in the Malaysian capital from Saigon today as hundreds of steel-helmeted riot police guarded against a repetition of the violence that broke out during President Johnson's visit last October.

Humphrey's effigy was hanged in Penang, a hotbed of leftist activity 180 miles to the north, a few hours before he arrived in a big U.S. Air Force jet.

Some 200 youths massed in downtown Kuala Lumpur Tuesday night but scattered when riot police arrived.

Half an hour before Humphrey's arrival 100 young members of the left-wing opposition Labor party paraded along a main street with "Humphrey Get Out" banners but dropped their signs and walked away when a light drizzle started.

The Labor party has charged that Humphrey will try to involve Malaysia in the Vietnam war. However, Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman gave assurance Tuesday that the government would not send troops to Vietnam although it would continue to train South Vietnamese police officers.

Humphrey's arrival was accompanied by little fanfare. An elaborate ceremony including the traditional reviewing of a guard of honor was canceled after it was learned he would arrive after dark.

The deputy prime minister, Tun Abdul Razak, greeted Humphrey because Prime Minister Rahman has a badly sprained ankle.

On his final day in South Vietnam, the U.S. vice president flew a quarter of a mile high—between the range of Communist machine guns and missiles — to survey the U.S. Marines' battleground along the demilitarized zone. From his lumbering transport plane, he saw U.S. artillery hammering Red positions.

Fund Drive Has Final Kickoff

DEXTER -- The kickoff of the final fund drive for the Dexter Memorial hospital was held Monday at the Dexter Civic Center.

The goal for the final drive is $117,000. C. C. Shell and Bob Robbins are co-chairmen.

Thurston Hill, superintendent of public schools in Dexter, re-emphasized the importance of the hospital to the campaign fund members attending.

Much of the goal is hoped to be made by renewing and extending pledged. Pledge cards are available at 14 West Stoddard in Dexter, the hospital campaign headquarters.

Two Fire Areas Still Unchecked

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Firefighters counted on predicted lighter winds today in their battle to contain the two remaining trouble spots in a series of brush blazes in Southern California.

The State Division of Forestry identified isolated areas in central San Diego County as the only area of unchecked fires.

Since Sunday, fires have burned across 140,000 acres, caused about $4 million structural damage and are blamed for four deaths.

Flames in a fire at Pine Hills, southwest of Julian, were uncontained today along northern and southern edges, after blackening about 10,000 acres.

However, officials said nearby Cuyamaca State Park was not endangered.

The other unchecked blaze was near Ramona, where 33,000 acres were charred and 26 structures gutted.

Two Die in Burning House

DONIPHAN, Mo. (AP)— Two persons died today in a fire that swept a two-story frame house in this Ripley County town.

The victims were identified as Walter C. Hudson, 67, and Anna Mae Coleman, 38, both of Doniphan.

Fire Chief Leonard Pinder said the bodies were found in an apartment in the building.

$700 Collected for Children's Fund

With the collection of $700 by youth groups of 22 churches for the annual trick or treat for UNICEF last night more than 14,000 needy children will be better fed, or 7,000 young victims of trachoma will be saved from blindness thanks to Sikeston's response.

Included in the contributions was more than $30 obtained through UNICEF containers placed in 40 business places.

Coins collected will provide supplies, medicine and services for boys and girls in Africa, Asia, Latin America and the Middle East.

This can mean a daily glass of milk for 17,000 hungry children for a month or the antibiotics to treat 7,000 trachoma victims. Through UNICEF, the United Nations Children's Fund, a leprosy victim is treated for 75 cents; and 50 cents protects seven children from malaria for a year.

Churches and chairmen, who assisted in the program, are: Tanner Street Church of God, Mrs. Burley Alford; Presbyterian Church, Mr. and Mrs. Art Hobbs; Church of God of the Prophecy, Mrs. Marjorie Hopkins; United Pentecostal Church, Mrs. Billie Butler; West End Baptist Church, Mrs. Idella Johnson; Eastside Nazarene Church, Mrs. Ferrell Miller.

Second General Baptist Church, Mr. and Mrs. Carter Bell; First Church of the Nazarene, Mrs. Charles Campbell; First Methodist Church, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Struwe; Fellowship Baptist, Mrs. W. T. Woods; Community Church of God, Mrs. Francis Jenkins; St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Mrs. Jack Mitchell; First Christian Church, Mrs. Frank Grimm; Assembly of God, Mrs. Raymond Page; Wesley Methodist Church, Mrs. L. A. Schurenberg.

First Baptist Church, Mrs. Melvin McMackins; Sixth street Church of God, the Rev. and Mrs. Martin; First General Baptist Church, the Rev. Robert Jones; Smith Chapel Methodist Church, Mrs. Roberta Rowe; Trinity Baptist Church, Pat Groves; Murray Lane Baptist Church, Charles Hilleman; and St. Francis Xavier Church, Mrs. Phil Barkett.

A certified check will be sent from the Bank of Sikeston to United Nations headquarters in New York.

Residents, whose homes might have been missed by the UNICEF Trick or Treaters, may call Mrs. Oran Dahl, collection chairman.

Morehouse Fire Damage

MOREHOUSE -- The five-room frame house of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Gregory in a new addition in the southwest part of Morehouse was damaged by fire Tuesday afternoon.

Two rooms were heavily damaged and the others received smoke and water damage.

Fire was believed to have started from a humidifier in the baby's bedroom. The Gregorys have five children, ranging in age from a 20-month old daughter, and four sons, three, five, six and seven. The family's clothing was destroyed and much of the home furnishings.

The father is employed at Hart's Bakery in Sikeston. The family spent the night with his father, Earl Gregory, in Bloomfield.

Fire Chief Farris Sliger said firemen received a call at 12:10 p.m., and had the fire under control 45 minutes later.

Farewell for Tavern Gets Out of Hand

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — A noisy farewell to a popular tavern erupted into a wild, window-smashing melee and an abortive panty raid at the edge of the University of Missouri campus Tuesday night.

City and campus police were joined by 35 to 40 sheriff's deputies and 23 highway patrolmen as approximately 1,200 students from several area colleges started throwing rocks, bottles, apples and oranges.

Tear gas was used to quell one group during the disturbance.

The tavern is just across the street from Jesse Hall, the university adminisration building. Since 1931 it has been known to students, first as "Black and Gold Inn, Italian Village (I. V.)," and in 1966 it became "The Huddle."

The university owns the building and refused to renew the lease, which ran out Tuesday.

Witnesses said a crowd began gathering around 3:30 p.m. By 9 p.m. a two or three-block area around the tavern was jammed with students.

Shortly after nine, the crowd was reported ripping apart booths and breaking windows. Sheriff's officers, highway patrolmen, city and campus police then began dispersing the crowd.

Prison Doctor Uncovers Drug Peddling Scheme

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Cummins Prison Farm trustie have been peddling drugs to other inmates under a haphazard medical program that cost the state some $8,000 to $9,000 a month, a new state prison doctor revealed.

Dr. Edwin M. Barron Jr. of Little Rock said Tuesday the drugs included talwin, a synthetic narcotic; demerol, which is habit-forming, and "any type of drug that anyone could conceivably get high on."

He added, however, that no powerful addictives such as heroin were involved. He said the trustie had ordered the drugs on prison requisition.

Darron, who became the prison physician about six weeks ago, said examinations and talks with other prisoners disclosed that the five trustie who were operating the medical program sold stimulants to a "clique of prisoners" in the barracks, who in turn retailed them to other prisoners.

Pranksters Few For Halloween

Relatively few vandalism reports were made to the police as a result of Halloween activities Tuesday night.

W. A. Alliston Jr., 926 Hawthorne, reported someone put sugar in the gas tank of his automobile while it was parked in the driveway of his residence.

A picture window in a vacant house at 301 Selma was broken.

Paint was smeared on the mailbox at the home of Dolph Webb Jr., 329 Pam. Webb is a policeman.

The only other activity reported included several incidents of egg throwing at cars. No arrests were reported.

Top Air Ace Honored

WESTHAMPTON, N.Y. (AP) — Col. Francis S. Gabreski, 48, the nation's top living air ace, has been presented the Legion of Merit, the nation's highest noncombat award.

He was given the medal Tuesday during ceremonies marking his retirement as commander of the 52nd Fighter Wing at Suffolk County Air Force Base.

Gabreski, who leaves for a public relations post with an aircraft corporation, is credited with downing 37½ enemy planes during World War II and the Korean war.

Firm to Use Own Funds

Ground breaking ceremonies were held at 10:30 a.m. today for the Charles Todd Uniform Rental plant on a 13.4 - acre plot east of the E. P. Coleman steam plant.

Excavating and building of forms for the concrete floor of the 160 ft. by 165 ft. steel building will begin tomorrow, Lloyd Warren, owner of the Warren Steel Structures of Poplar Bluff, said.

The new plant is expected to produce about one million dollars per year in rental sales. The payroll for the first year is estimated to be a quarter of a million dollars, Charles Todd Jr., president said.

Initially the plant will employ 65 when it opens for business in March. The number of employes is expected to increase to 90 in about a year.

The payroll should increase to $300,000 to $400,000 in coming years. Payroll costs run about one fourth of the amount of sales in the company's other plants, Todd said.

Todd will do his own financing for the cost of the land, building and equipment. The building is expected to cost $150,000. Total cost of bringing the plant into being is expected to be between $250,000 and $300,000.

A revenue bond issue method of financing had been considered. City attorney Manuel Drumm obtained city council approval Oct. 24, to proceed with negotiations.

But the revenue bond issue is now out of the picture, Todd said. The rate of interest would have been high and the issue of $250,000 in bonds would have limited appeal to buyers, he said.

The plant will rent pants and shirts to service stations, garages, industries and will provide linen service to motels, restaurants, hospitals and nursing homes.

Preliminary surveys of the potential market have been taken, and the plant here is expected to serve a 100- mile radius.

All business will be transacted by pickup and delivery. A fleet of eight or nine vans with regular routes will transport the goods.

The laundry will not handle domestic work. It will be the only industrial laundry operation in Southeast Missouri, Todd said.

The plant will pay above the minimum wage for employes. Interviewing probably will start in February.

All personnel with the exception of two managers will be employed locally. Shirel Roach, Cape Girardeau, is in training at another of the company's plants now. He will be the general manager of the plant. Jerry Guerin, Union City, Tenn., will move to serve as the plants' district manager in charge of sales and services.

The plant will give employment to Negroes.

Todd's first industrial laundry was started in 1882, in St. Louis. There are four plants now operating. They are in Mayfield, Ky., Herron, Ill., Clinton, Ill. and St. Louis.

The corporate name of the plant is Todd Semo.

Sikeston Boy Burned In Blaze

CARUTHERSVILLE -- A Caruthersville boy was fatally burned and a Sikeston boy critically burned in a house trailer fire Sunday morning.

Killed was Andy McClure, 13. James Boley, 17, of Sikeston, is reported in critical condition at a Memphis hospital.

Cause of the fire, which destroyed the trailer, is undetermined.

The trailer was owned by Mr. and Mrs. Bob Tanner.

Jefferson City Girl Queen

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)— Miss Geneva Sugarbaker, who is in Hawaii to visit her fiance who was wounded in Vietnam, was elected homecoming queen at the University of Missouri Tuesday night.

The wounded fiance is Bob Wilson, a former Missouri football player. He suffered shrapnel wounds in the back.

Miss Sugarbaker, 21, of Jefferson City, a senior, is a speech and dramatics major at the college of education. She is a 120-pound, 5-7, blue-eyed brunette.

Cecil Phillips, chairman of the queen selection committee, said he felt sure that Miss Sugarbaker would be back for the homecoming game Nov. 11 against Kansas State.

Chosen as attendants were Miss Lisa Valenti, 21, of Weatherby Lake in Platte County, and Miss Katie Blanton, 19, of Sikeston.

Twin Strikes Hit Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati was hit with double trouble today.

The city of about 500,000 was without newspapers and city bus service.

A shutdown of the city's two daily newspapers started Monday with a strike by the photoengravers which spread to other unions.

Today 800 members of the Amalgamated Transit Union struck the Cincinnati Transit Co. in another contract dispute.

The transit strike, the first in 54 years here, caused massive traffic jams on a rainy morning as workers had to use private transportation to get to their jobs.

Many didn't even know about the strike because they had no newspapers and has missed radio broadcasts.

The newspaper strike, involving the morning and Sunday Cincinnati Enquirer and the evening Cincinnati Post & Times Star, affected about 1,300 persons directly.

The bus strike knocked out transportation of thousands of youngsters to public schoos, but Supt. Paul A. Miller said schools would be open.

30 Spooks Awarded Prizes for Costumes

About 30 small spooks competed for $32 in prize money in four categories of Halloween costumes Tuesday night at the American Legion Hall. The event was sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Martha Springs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Springs Jr., won first place in the prettiest costume class. Second place was won by Kathy Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Miller. Lanna and Danna Adams, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Dewavon Adams, took third place.

In the most original costume class, first place was won by Kenneth Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Lewis. Second place was taken by Jack Hutchison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hutchison, and third place was won by Tammy Alley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Alley.

In the funniest costume category, Ricky Alley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Alley, won first place. Second place was taken by Lon Aldridge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Aldridge. Third place was won by Julie Ann Hilbs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hilbs.

First prize in each category was $5, second was $2, and third was $1. Money was donated by First National Bank of Sikeston and Security National Bank.

Bruce Hampton was chairman of the contest. Jim E. Cox was co-chairman.

Turnpike Test Case Begins

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Constitutionality of Missouri's new toll turnpike law has been challenged in Cole County Circuit Court.

Robert L. Hyder, counsel for both the turnpike authority and the Missouri Highway Commission, said efforts would be made to transfer the case directly to the Missouri Supreme Court for an early decision.

If the law is upheld he said that might make it possible to start work on some turnpikes by next March or April. A toll road south from Kansas City to Arkansas has top priority in the feasibility studies being conducted by outside consultants.

The friendly test case was filed by two contractors in behalf of all motor fuel taxpayers. They are Joseph L. Polh, contractor, Inc. of Nevada, Mo., and Menefee Construction Co. Inc. of Sedalia, Mo.

It challenges all aspects of the law, including the use of state highway funds to lease the turnpikes and maintain them—the issue that caused prolonged legislative debate.

The turnpike authority consists of the six highway commission members plus Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, who strongly advocated passage of the bill. The suit questions whether two such state agencies can contract with each other.

It also raises questions about the legality of entering into contracts with private businesses, such as filling stations, restaurants and garages, use of highway department technical assistance and the validity of the toll's title.

Hyder said the suit is broad enough to answer any legal questions raised by prospective buyers of the revenue bonds that would be issued to build the turnpikes.

Both Hyder and James W. Kelly, secretary of the Associated General Contractors of Missouri, said the test case is intended to speed up construction of turnpikes of favorable feasibility studies are received and the revenue bonds can be sold at an acceptable rate.

Kelly represents the two plaintiffs but said the contractor group is not directly involved.

Seeking an injunction to halt action, the contractors contend use of highway funds would be "an illegal and unconstitutional diversion and misappropriation of the tax revenues of this state."

Hyder said he would ask for a writ of prohibition within two weeks to take jurisdiction out of Cole County Circuit Court and put the case immediately before the Missouri Supreme Court.

Johnson Welcomes Monarch From Nepal

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson welcomed King Mahendra of Nepal today and offered him "the hand of friendship and partnership as you continue your advance" in modernizing the South Asian nation.

Tip Aids Bank Robber Capture

LA PORTE, Ind. (AP) — Two men wanted in a suburban Chicago bank robbery in which two policemen were slain were seized Tuesday night at a lake cottage used by one of them as a hideout 11 years ago.

A posse of federal, state and county police officers, acting on a tip, went to the cabin and arrested Clifton O. Daniels, 29, Wilmington, Ill., and Henry M. Gargano, 35. Gargano was found in bed, seriously wounded and "too weak to move."

Two women in the cabin at Fox Lake 12 miles southeast of this northern Indiana city also were arrested. Police identified them as Mary F. Cook, 30, and Annette Gargano Leonardo, 29, both of Lemont, Ill.

Daniels and Gargano were charged in the $83,783 holdup Friday of a Northlake, Ill., bank. The FBI said most of the loot was recovered in the cottage.

A gun battle at the bank between police and the three masked robbers killed officers John J. Nagle Jr., 31, and Anthony P. Perri, 41. Two other policemen were wounded along with Ronald D. Raine, 35, one of the robbers who was charged with two counts of murder.

About 17 officers went to the lake cottage. Most summer cottages at the resort were vacant.

FBI agent Harold A. Berger of South Bend, who led the raid, said the cabin was owned by Gargano's grandfather and that Gargano "used it as a hideout in 1956 after a bank robbery in Francesville, Ind."

Berger said lights were seen inside. Using a bullhorn, he ordered the occupants to come out with their hands up. The two women came out first and related that Gargano was wounded.

Daniels backed out as instructed.

Inventory to Be Taken after Theft

An inventory of the Riggs Wholesale Co., 800 West North St. probably will not be made until the end of the week, so the estimated value of items taken in a breakin Monday night or early Tuesday is not available, A. A. Grugett, co-owner said today.

First estimate of goods taken after the burglary was discovered Tuesday was $575.

Basketball, Fall and Cars Injure

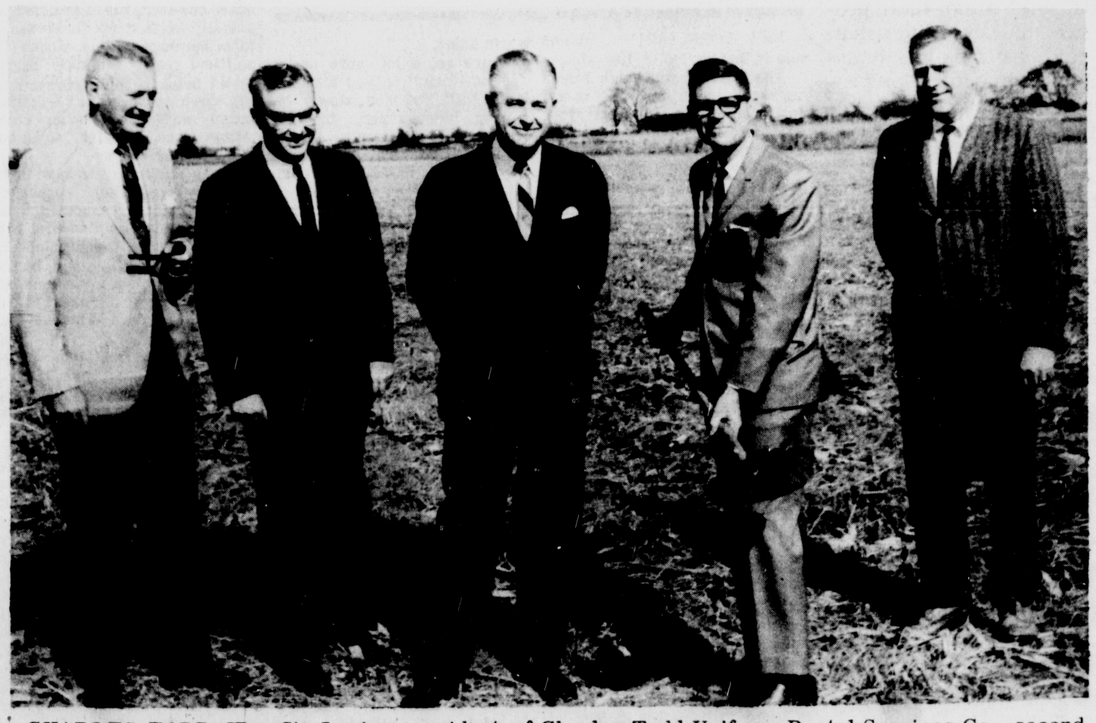

Three were treated in the Missouri Delta community hospital emergency room Tuesday!

Dane Hurt, East Prairie, injured arm in basketball practice; Winnie Nelson, fell and injured leg; Terry A. Cook, in car accident.

Poplar Bluff Man Hurt in Truck Plunge

A 1967 International truck, driven by Lenny LeGrand, 29, Poplar Bluff, skidded off slick highway 34 down an embankment and overturned at 3:55 p.m. in Wayne County three miles east of highway 67.

He was cut on his left hand and suffered a possible hip fracture. He was taken to a Poplar Bluff hospital.

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — A telephone bomb threat disrupted an assembly at Pensacola Junior College Tuesday but the principal speaker, Gen. Maxwell Taylor, finished his speech outside.

Some 1,000 students had assembled in an auditorium to hear Taylor talk on this country's involvement in Vietnam when school officials received the anonymous call.

The audience was evacuated about 25 minutes into Taylor's speech but he finished when they gathered behind the building.

Laundry Sod Broken

Hubert Lands in Malaysia

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey arrived in the Malaysian capital from Saigon today as hundreds of steel-helmeted riot police guarded against a repetition of the violence that broke out during President Johnson's visit last October.

Humphrey's effigy was hanged in Penang, a hotbed of leftist activity 180 miles to the north, a few hours before he arrived in a big U.S. Air Force jet.

Some 200 youths massed in downtown Kuala Lumpur Tuesday night but scattered when riot police arrived.

Half an hour before Humphrey's arrival 100 young members of the left-wing opposition Labor party paraded along a main street with "Humphrey Get Out" banners but dropped their signs and walked away when a light drizzle started.

The Labor party has charged that Humphrey will try to involve Malaysia in the Vietnam war. However, Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman gave assurance Tuesday that the government would not send troops to Vietnam although it would continue to train South Vietnamese police officers.

Humphrey's arrival was accompanied by little fanfare. An elaborate ceremony including the traditional reviewing of a guard of honor was canceled after it was learned he would arrive after dark.

The deputy prime minister, Tun Abdul Razak, greeted Humphrey because Prime Minister Rahman has a badly sprained ankle.

On his final day in South Vietnam, the U.S. vice president flew a quarter of a mile high—between the range of Communist machine guns and missiles — to survey the U.S. Marines' battleground along the demilitarized zone. From his lumbering transport plane, he saw U.S. artillery hammering Red positions.

Fund Drive Has Final Kickoff

DEXTER -- The kickoff of the final fund drive for the Dexter Memorial hospital was held Monday at the Dexter Civic Center.

The goal for the final drive is $117,000. C. C. Shell and Bob Robbins are co-chairmen.

Thurston Hill, superintendent of public schools in Dexter, re-emphasized the importance of the hospital to the campaign fund members attending.

Much of the goal is hoped to be made by renewing and extending pledged. Pledge cards are available at 14 West Stoddard in Dexter, the hospital campaign headquarters.

Two Fire Areas Still Unchecked

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Firefighters counted on predicted lighter winds today in their battle to contain the two remaining trouble spots in a series of brush blazes in Southern California.

The State Division of Forestry identified isolated areas in central San Diego County as the only area of unchecked fires.

Since Sunday, fires have burned across 140,000 acres, caused about $4 million structural damage and are blamed for four deaths.

Flames in a fire at Pine Hills, southwest of Julian, were uncontained today along northern and southern edges, after blackening about 10,000 acres.

However, officials said nearby Cuyamaca State Park was not endangered.

The other unchecked blaze was near Ramona, where 33,000 acres were charred and 26 structures gutted.

Two Die in Burning House

DONIPHAN, Mo. (AP)— Two persons died today in a fire that swept a two-story frame house in this Ripley County town.

The victims were identified as Walter C. Hudson, 67, and Anna Mae Coleman, 38, both of Doniphan.

Fire Chief Leonard Pinder said the bodies were found in an apartment in the building.

$700 Collected for Children's Fund

With the collection of $700 by youth groups of 22 churches for the annual trick or treat for UNICEF last night more than 14,000 needy children will be better fed, or 7,000 young victims of trachoma will be saved from blindness thanks to Sikeston's response.

Included in the contributions was more than $30 obtained through UNICEF containers placed in 40 business places.

Coins collected will provide supplies, medicine and services for boys and girls in Africa, Asia, Latin America and the Middle East.

This can mean a daily glass of milk for 14,000 hungry children for a month or the antibiotics to treat 7,000 trachoma victims.

Through UNICEF, the United Nations Children's Fund, a leprosy victim is treated for 75 cents; and 50 cents protects seven children from malaria for a year.

Churches and chairmen, who assisted in the program, are: Tanner Street Church of God, Mrs. Burley Alford; Presbyterian Church, Mr. and Mrs. Art Hobbs; Church of God of the Prophecy, Mrs. Marjorie Hopkins; United Pentecostal Church, Mrs. Billie Butler; West End Baptist Church, Mrs. Idella Johnson; Eastside Nazarene Church, Mrs. Ferrell Miller.

Second General Baptist Church, Mr. and Mrs. Carter Bell; First Church of the Nazarene, Mrs. Charles Campbell; First Methodist Church, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Struwe; Fellowship Baptist, Mrs. W. T. Woods; Community Church of God, Mrs. Francis Jenkins; St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Mrs. Jack Mitchell; First Christian Church, Mrs. Frank Grimm; Assembly of God, Mrs. Raymond Page; Wesley Methodist Church, Mrs. L. A. Schurenberg.

First Baptist Church, Mrs. Melvin McMackins; Sixth street Church of God, the Rev. and Mrs. Martin; First General Baptist Church, the Rev. Robert Jones; Smith Chapel Methodist Church, Mrs. Roberta Rowe; Trinity Baptist Church, Pat Groves; Murray Lane Baptist Church, Charles Hilleman; and St. Francis Xavier Church, Mrs. Phil Barkett.

A certified check will be sent from the Bank of Sikeston to United Nations headquarters in New York.

Residents, whose homes might have been missed by the UNICEF Trick or Treaters, may call Mrs. Oran Dahl, collection chairman.

Morehouse Fire Damage

MOREHOUSE -- The five-room frame house of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Gregory in a new addition in the southwest part of Morehouse was damaged by fire Tuesday afternoon.

Two rooms were heavily damaged and the others received smoke and water damage.

Fire was believed to have started from a humidifier in the baby's bedroom. The Gregorys have five children, ranging in age from a 20-month old daughter, and four sons, three, five, six and seven. The family's clothing was destroyed and much of the home furnishings.

The father is employed at Hart's Bakery in Sikeston. The family spent the night with his father, Earl Gregory, in Bloomfield.

Fire Chief Farris Sliger said firemen received a call at 12:10 p.m., and had the fire under control 45 minutes later.

Farewell for Tavern Gets Out of Hand

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — A noisy farewell to a popular tavern erupted into a wild, window-smashing melee and an abortive panty raid at the edge of the University of Missouri campus Tuesday night.

City and campus police were joined by 35 to 40 sheriff's deputies and 23 highway patrolmen as approximately 1,200 students from several area colleges started throwing rocks, bottles, apples and oranges.

Tear gas was used to quell one group during the disturbance.

The tavern is just across the street from Jesse Hall, the university administration building. Since 1931 it has been known to students, first as "Black and Gold Inn, Italian Village (I. V.)," and in 1966 it became "The Huddle."

The university owns the building and refused to renew the lease, which ran out Tuesday.

Witnesses said a crowd began gathering around 3:30 p.m. By 9 p.m. a two or three-block area around the tavern was jammed with students.

Shortly after nine, the crowd was reported ripping apart booths and breaking windows. Sheriff's officers, highway patrolmen, city and campus police then began dispersing the crowd.

Prison Doctor Uncovers Drug Peddling Scheme

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Cummins Prison Farm trustie have been peddling drugs to other inmates under a haphazard medical program that cost the state some $8,000 to $9,000 a month, a new state prison doctor revealed.

Dr. Edwin M. Barron Jr. of Little Rock said Tuesday the drugs included talwin, a synthetic narcotic; demerol, which is habit-forming, and "any type of drug that anyone could conceivably get high on."

He added, however, that no powerful addictives such as heroin were involved. He said the trustie had ordered the drugs on prison requisition.

Darron, who became the prison physician about six weeks ago, said examinations and talks with other prisoners disclosed that the five trustie who were operating the medical program sold stimulants to a "clique of prisoners" in the barracks, who in turn retailed them to other prisoners.

Pranksters Few For Halloween

Relatively few vandalism reports were made to the police as a result of Halloween activities Tuesday night.

W. A. Alliston Jr., 926 Hawthorne, reported someone put sugar in the gas tank of his automobile while it was parked in the driveway of his residence.

A picture window in a vacant house at 301 Selma was broken.

Paint was smeared on the mailbox at the home of Dolph Webb Jr., 329 Pam. Webb is a policeman.

Top Air Ace Honored

WESTHAMPTON, N.Y. (AP) — Col. Francis S. Gabreski, 48, the nation's top living air ace, has been presented the Legion of Merit, the nation's highest noncombat award.

He was given the medal Tuesday during ceremonies marking his retirement as commander of the 52nd Fighter Wing at Suffolk County Air Force Base.

Gabreski, who leaves for a public relations post with an aircraft corporation, is credited with downing 37½ enemy planes during World War II and the Korean war.

Firm to Use Own Funds

Ground breaking ceremonies were held at 10:30 a.m. today for the Charles Todd Uniform Rental plant on a 13.4 - acre plot east of the E. P. Coleman steam plant.

Excavating and building of forms for the concrete floor of the 160 ft. by 165 ft. steel building will begin tomorrow, Lloyd Warren, owner of the Warren Steel Structures of Poplar Bluff, said.

The new plant is expected to produce about one million dollars per year in rental sales. The payroll for the first year is estimated to be a quarter of a million dollars, Charles Todd Jr., president said.

Initially the plant will employ 65 when it opens for business in March. The number of employes is expected to increase to 90 in about a year.

The payroll should increase to $300,000 to $400,000 in coming years. Payroll costs run about one fourth of the amount of sales in the company's other plants, Todd said.

Todd will do his own financing for the cost of the land, building and equipment. The building is expected to cost $150,000. Total cost of bringing the plant into being is expected to be between $250,000 and $300,000.

A revenue bond issue method of financing had been considered. City attorney Manuel Drumm obtained city council approval Oct. 24, to proceed with negotiations.

But the revenue bond issue is now out of the picture, Todd said. The rate of interest would have been high and the issue of $250,000 in bonds would have limited appeal to buyers, he said.

The plant will rent pants and shirts to service stations, garages, industries and will provide linen service to motels, restaurants, hospitals and nursing homes.

Preliminary surveys of the potential market have been taken, and the plant here is expected to serve a 100- mile radius.

All business will be transacted by pickup and delivery. A fleet of eight or nine vans with regular routes will transport the goods.

The laundry will not handle domestic work. It will be the only industrial laundry operation in Southeast Missouri, Todd said.

The plant will pay above the minimum wage for employes. Interviewing probably will start in February.

All personnel with the exception of two managers will be employed locally. Shirel Roach, Cape Girardeau, is in training at another of the company's plants now. He will be the general manager of the plant. Jerry Guerin, Union City, Tenn., will move to serve as the plants' district manager in charge of sales and services.

The plant will give employment to Negroes.

Todd's first industrial laundry was started in 1882, in St. Louis. There are four plants now operating. They are in Mayfield, Ky., Herron, Ill., Clinton, Ill. and St. Louis.

The corporate name of the plant is Todd Semo.

Sikeston Boy Burned In Blaze

CARUTHERSVILLE -- A Caruthersville boy was fatally burned and a Sikeston boy critically burned in a house trailer fire Sunday morning.

Killed was Andy McClure, 13. James Boley, 17, of Sikeston, is reported in critical condition at a Memphis hospital.

Cause of the fire, which destroyed the trailer, is undetermined.

The trailer was owned by Mr. and Mrs. Bob Tanner.

Boley, who is a nephew of the Tanners, was spending the weekend with them.

Jefferson City Girl Queen

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)— Miss Geneva Sugarbaker, who is in Hawaii to visit her fiance who was wounded in Vietnam, was elected homecoming queen at the University of Missouri Tuesday night.

The wounded fiance is Bob Wilson, a former Missouri football player. He suffered shrapnel wounds in the back.

Miss Sugarbaker, 21, of Jefferson City, a senior, is a speech and dramatics major at the college of education. She is a 120-pound, 5-7, blue-eyed brunette.

Cecil Phillips, chairman of the queen selection committee, said he felt sure that Miss Sugarbaker would be back for the homecoming game Nov. 11 against Kansas State.

Chosen as attendants were Miss Lisa Valenti, 21, of Weatherby Lake in Platte County, and Miss Katie Blanton, 19, of Sikeston.

Twin Strikes Hit Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati was hit with double trouble today.

The city of about 500,000 was without newspapers and city bus service.

A shutdown of the city's two daily newspapers started Monday with a strike by the photoengravers which spread to other unions.

Today 800 members of the Amalgamated Transit Union struck the Cincinnati Transit Co. in another contract dispute.

The transit strike, the first in 54 years here, caused massive traffic jams on a rainy morning as workers had to use private transportation to get to their jobs.

Many didn't even know about the strike because they had no newspapers and has missed radio broadcasts.

The newspaper strike, involving the morning and Sunday Cincinnati Enquirer and the evening Cincinnati Post & Times Star, affected about 1,300 persons directly.

The bus strike knocked out transportation of thousands of youngsters to public schoos, but Supt. Paul A. Miller said schools would be open.

30 Spooks Awarded Prizes for Costumes

About 30 small spooks competed for $32 in prize money in four categories of Halloween costumes Tuesday night at the American Legion Hall. The event was sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Martha Springs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Springs Jr., won first place in the prettiest costume class. Second place was won by Kathy Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Miller. Lanna and Danna Adams, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Dewavon Adams, took third place.

In the most original costume class, first place was won by Kenneth Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Lewis. Second place was taken by Jack Hutchison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hutchison, and third place was won by Tammy Alley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Alley.

In the funniest costume category, Ricky Alley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Alley, won first place. Second place was taken by Lon Aldridge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Aldridge. Third place was won by Julie Ann Hilbs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hilbs.

First prize in each category was $5, second was $2, and third was $1. Money was donated by First National Bank of Sikeston and Security National Bank.

Bruce Hampton was chairman of the contest. Jim E. Cox was co-chairman.

Turnpike Test Case Begins

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Constitutionality of Missouri's new toll turnpike law has been challenged in Cole County Circuit Court.

Robert L. Hyder, counsel for both the turnpike authority and the Missouri Highway Commission, said efforts would be made to transfer the case directly to the Missouri Supreme Court for an early decision.

If the law is upheld he said that might make it possible to start work on some turnpikes by next March or April. A toll road south from Kansas City to Arkansas has top priority in the feasibility studies being conducted by outside consultants.

The friendly test case was filed by two contractors in behalf of all motor fuel taxpayers. They are Joseph L. Polh, contractor, Inc. of Nevada, Mo., and Menefee Construction Co. Inc. of Sedalia, Mo.

It challenges all aspects of the law, including the use of state highway funds to lease the turnpikes and maintain them— the issue that caused prolonged legislative debate.

The turnpike authority consists of the six highway commission members plus Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, who strongly advocated passage of the bill. The suit questions whether two such state agencies can contract with each other.

It also raises questions about the legality of entering into contracts with private businesses, such as filling stations, restaurants and garages, use of highway department technical assistance and the validity of the bill's title.

Hyder said the suit is broad enough to answer any legal questions raised by prospective buyers of the revenue bonds that would be issued to build the turnpikes.

Both Hyder and James W. Kelly, secretary of the Associated General Contractors of Missouri, said the test case is intended to speed up construction of turnpikes of favorable feasibility studies are received and the revenue bonds can be sold at an acceptable rate.

Kelly represents the two plaintiffs but said the contractor group is not directly involved.

Seeking an injunction to halt action, the contractors contend use of highway funds would be "an illegal and unconstitutional diversion and misappropriation of the tax revenues of this state."

Hyder said he would ask for a writ of prohibition within two weeks to take jurisdiction out of Cole County Circuit Court and put the case immediately before the Missouri Supreme Court.

Johnson Welcomes Monarch From Nepal

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson welcomed King Mahendra of Nepal today and offered him "the hand of friendship and partnership as you continue your advance" in modernizing the South Asian nation.

Tip Aids Bank Robber Capture

LA PORTE, Ind. (AP) — Two men wanted in a suburban Chicago bank robbery in which two policemen were slain were seized Tuesday night at a lake cottage used by one of them as a hideout 11 years ago.

A posse of federal, state and county police officers, acting on a tip, went to the cabin and arrested Clifton O. Daniels, 29, Wilmington, Ill., and Henry M. Gargano, 35. Gargano was found in bed, seriously wounded and "too weak to move."

Two women in the cabin at Fox Lake 12 miles southeast of this northern Indiana city also were arrested. Police identified them as Mary F. Cook, 30, and Annette Gargano Leonardo, 29, both of Lemont, Ill.

Daniels and Gargano were charged in the $83,783 holdup Friday of a Northlake, Ill., bank. The FBI said most of the loot was recovered in the cottage.

A gun battle at the bank between police and the three masked robbers killed officers John J. Nagle Jr., 31, and Anthony P. Perri, 41. Two other policemen were wounded along with Ronald D. Raine, 35, one of the robbers who was charged with two counts of murder.

About 17 officers went to the lake cottage. Most summer cottages at the resort were vacant.

FBI agent Harold A. Berger of South Bend, who led the raid, said the cabin was owned by Gargano's grandfather and that Gargano "used it as a hideout in 1956 after a bank robbery in Francesville, Ind."

Berger said lights were seen inside. Using a bullhorn, he ordered the occupants to come out with their hands up. The two women came out first and related that Gargano was wounded.

Daniels backed out as instructed.

Inventory to Be Taken after Theft

An inventory of the Riggs Wholesale Co., 800 West North St. probably will not be made until the end of the week, so the estimated value of items taken in a breakin Monday night or early Tuesday is not available, A. A. Grugett, co-owner said today.

First estimate of goods taken after the burglary was discovered Tuesday was $575.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!
VOTING ON THE WAR

Candidates often exhort voters to cast their ballots for issues, not personalities. Sometimes, though, the issues are either inconsequential or ill-defined. And victorious candidates have been known to approach a given issue differently after election day than they did during the campaign.

San Francisco voters thus will have an unusual opportunity on Tuesday, Nov. 7. They will be able to vote on the leading issue of the day -- the war in Viet Nam -- without the distraction of electing a candidate identified with it. An initiative on the ballot states that "It is the policy of the people of the city and county of San Francisco that there be an immediate cease-fire and withdrawal of U.S. troops from Viet Nam so that the Vietnamese people can settle their own problems."

The trouble with this statement is that it offers only one of many alternatives to current American policy in Viet Nam. Presumably San Franciscans' views of the war are as varied as those of people in other parts of the country. But the response to the initiative should nevertheless provide some indication of the depth of American war-weariness. A similar proposition on the Dearborn, Mich., ballot last November was supported by 14,124 voters and opposed by 20,667.

NEWSPAPER ADS ECONOMICAL

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING is still economical. In spite of greatly increased costs of material, labor and production, the merchant can still buy a big FULL PAGE newspaper ad for a penny or two a copy.

The retailer can continue to plan future newspaper campaigns, secure in the knowledge that his newspaper will deliver his message into the home, an that his message will stay in the home until it is read. Only the newspaper can guarantee that.

THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS IN AMERICA

In recent years, the Chinese Communists have been intesifying their independent operations in Latin America, gradually eliminating or replacing those efforts that had been initiated in cooperation with Moscow.

Their activity is characterized chiefly by an intensive propaganda, political, and subversive nature, which also tends to weaken the position of Moscow within the Communist Parties and other leftist circles of Latin America. For that purpose, in May 1960, China set up the Sino - Latin American Cultural & Friendship Association in Peiping, which is also used by the Castro movement to carry out its own subversive program in the Americas. The New China News Agency and the pro-Chinese persons who make up the international front organizations supplement its action.

Beginning in 1963, the activity of the Chinese Communists increased, and it is worth noting that in December 1963, the assistant director of the department of propaganda of the central committee of the Communist Party declared that Latin America was one of the places in the world where political parties that truly represent the proletariat will necessarily arise. The pro-Chinese Communist groups were therefore urged to seize the leadership of their various parties.

Parallel with that activity, economic support was given those groups, and an intensive campaign was begun to strengthen cultural ties, characterized by trips by Communist elements and Chinese sympathizers to Peiping. In this connection, invitations for "cultural" purposes were issued to parliamentarians, politicians, newspapermen, writers, artists, labor leaders and students, and, at the same time, their program of sending their own "cultural" missions to various Latin American countries was intensified. This Chinese Communist penetration program was especially well received by the Communist and intellectual youth groups.

In their efforts to penetrate these countries, the Chinese Communists have used these countries, the Chinese Communists have used these sympathizers and with their help have established and developed a number of "binational" organizations. Up to the present, the following are known:

Argentina: Sociedad Cultral Chino - Argentina (Chinese-Argentine Cultural Society).

Bolivia: Centro de Amistad Boliviano -China - Sovietico (Sino-Soviet Bolivian Friendship Center.)

Brazil: Sociedad Cultural Chino - Brasilena (Chinese-Brazilian Cultural Society).

Colombia: Asociacion de Amigos de China Popular (Association of Friends of the People's Republic of China).

Chile: Instituto Chileno - Chino de Cultura (Chinese - Chilean Cultural Institute).

Mexico: Sociedad de Amistad con China Popular (Society for Friendship With the People's Republic of China).

Peru: Asociacion de Amigos de China Popular (Association of Friends of the People's Republic of China).

Uruguay: Sociedad para la Amistad y el Intercambio con China Popular (Society for Friendship and Trade with the People's Republic of China).

Venezuela: Sociedad de Amistad Chino-Venezolana (Chinese-Venezuelan Friendship Society).

The above list, which covers only the period since Communist China, began giving added impetus to its relations with Latin America, clearly shows the intensity of its efforts at penetration. However, in some cases, the above-mentioned organizations are actually dominated by Communists and other leftist elements syrnpathizers of Moscow.

It should be pointed out that in 1963-64, Communist China made progress in its efforts to increase trade with various countries. It has held trade fairs in several of them, and has set up commercial representatives in others. In this way it has even succeeded in establishing official relations with Latin American countries . . .

80 MONTHS OF PROSPERITY

On Wednesday (Nov. 1) the American economy will enter what economists generally agree will be its 81st month of business expansion.

"IN TIMES OF PROSPERITY, Good Lord Preserve Us." These are indeed times of prosperity. The continuing business expansion in the United States has established an unheard of 80 months of general business expansion and wealth. No really serious breakers ahead are visible.

The Biblical allusion, on the word of Joseph W. Barr, under secretary of the Treasury, is from one of the oldest litanies in the Christian Church, dating back to around 400 A.D. Barr used it in a speech in Boston on Oct. 4 as a text for his argument that Treasury people have their suffering "compounded in times of prosperity, and most particularly in times of excessive prosperity." Basically the pitch was for President Johnson's proposed tax increase.

ECONOMIC FORECASTING at best is a chancy thing. Business watchers say there is still plenty of life in the amazing business boom which began roughly 80 months ago. Chase Manhattan Bank, for one, in its bi-monthly Business in Brief, looks for a "solidly based" advance for the last three months of 1967, based on "rising consumer buying."

The "technicians" of the prestigious Business Council at the group's semi-annual work and play meeting at Hot Springs, Va., on the next to last weekend in October predicted that the national output would climb throughout 1968. But they warned against further inflation. Even with higher taxes and curbed federal spending, they said, prices may go up as much as 3.5 per cent on the average.

The Commerce Department on Oct. 13 announced that the economy enjoyed a substantial upturn in the third quarter of this year. Gross national product rose to $790 billion at a seasonally adjusted rate. This was the largest three-month advance in a year and a half.

PERHAPS the best indicator of what has happened in the past nearly seven years of recession-free expansion is employment. Not quite 70 million Americans were employed when the boom began. Now some 74.6 million have jobs.

The unemployed some 80 months ago numbered 5.5 million. Now they are just under 3 million, despite a sharp upturn last month because of a large increase in women seeking to enter the labor force. Since 1961, gross national product is up 49 per cent. Consumer spending is up 46 per cent. Government spending is up 63 per cent. Business spending is up 47 per cent.

The National Association of Business Economists predicts a 1968 gross national product of $835 billion, up $52 billion from this year. Business Week magazine reports (Oct. 7): "The NABE -- which was a highly conservative forecasting record -- was virtually unanimous in thinking that the 1967 slowdown is over. Only 6 per cent of the forecasters polled thought that a recession was possible in 1968, although almost every forecaster. . . thought President Johnson would get his tax hike."

NEW YORK (AP) — Middle age is that period of life when—

The faces in your high school yearbook begin to look hauntingly unfamiliar—including your own.

You no longer open an envelope with the idea that it might possibly contain something for nothing.

It isn't as easy as it used to be to beat a nimble-footed old lady to an empty taxicab.

If you casually encounter someone you used to know, you tell him how well he looks and congratulate yourself secretly because you haven't aged so much as he.

You never buy anything without first inspecting its price tag in the hope that it has been reduced.

The mail brings more and more invitations to do things you don't want to do and to go places where you don't want to be.

You have pretty well figured out whom you would lend money to in an emergency—and how much.

Your hairline isn't receding so much as your forehead is getting nobler looking.

It is easier to wear something that doesn't quite fit you than it is to go through the bother of taking it back to the store and having it exchanged.

Anything that leaves you feeling too darned tired is hardly worth doing.

There are a lot more people who say "sir" to you than holler, "Hi!" You are slowly becoming accustomed to this difference in greeting.

The tougher the sport being played, the more you enjoy being an innocent spectator.

Although you sense a slight slowdown in your physical prowess, morally you are getting so much stronger that about half the time you can whip temptation with one arm tied behind you. Sin has acquired a resistible personality.

Every cocktail party you attend reminds you of at least three others you can remember at which you made a fool of yourself.

You have a wistful desire to gossip about other people less and help them more.

When you go to church, you find yourself nodding in agreement with the preacher before he has even reached the verb in the sentence he is saying. After all, you know there's a lot of truth in what he has in mind.

No longer do you retain youth's careless way of taking nature for granted. Each tree and bird and flower assumes its own individuality, and you are at least dimly thankful that each is there.

Yep, that's middle age. Middle age is what you make it—and what it makes of you.

Throughtout the life cycle, females have a better mortality record than males, say the statisticians.

But the extent to which males are the more vulnerable sex varies with age. The smallest disparity in the mortality rates of the sexes is in the early childhood ages, when environmental differences for males and females are at a minimum. The death rate at ages 1 to 4 is about one-sixth greater for boys. However, the difference widens with age.

At ages 5 to 14, the rate among males is one and a -half times that among females, and at ages 15 to 24 the ratio is more than 2 1/2 to 1 -- higher than at any other period of life, the statisticians noted. This increasing difference reflects mainly the higher accident rate among the males.

Accidents and heart disease, the two leading causes of death among men at ages 24 to 44, account largely for the mortality disadvantage males experience in that stage of life. Although appreciably below the peak recorded in the previous age period, the ratio of the total death rate among males compared wiph females still is 1 3/4 to 1, the statisticians report.

The male death rate at ages 45 to 64 is about twice the female rate, and heart disease alone was responsible for three-fifths of the difference. At the older ages, that is 65 years and over, male mortality is about 40 percent higher, the smallest disparity for any age group except the preschool years.

The Biggest Industry

What makes up the largest single industry in this country? Answer: The investor-owned electric utilities. When 1964 ended, their investment in plan and equipment was in the neighborhood of $57 billion - a figure that only those familiar with the rarified air of higher mathematics can begin to comprehend. During that single year, they spent about $3.6 billion on new construction.

And this, it would seem, is only a beginning. All over the country, investor - owned companies have been announcing huge expansion and improvement programs for this year and many years to come. A utility which serves much of burgeoning California provides a dramatic example. For several years, its annual construction budgets have exceeded $200 million. This year the figure is to be some $275 million. New electric generating capacity totaling 2,112,500 kilowatts will be installed. That program, along with expansion of its gas facilities, will support an average of 7,600 construction jobs every working day of the year. It will increase the value of the company's taxable properties, thus providing additional revenue for government. It will stimulate businesses of virtually every kind and size within its service area. Comparable expenditures in relation to size of companies are being made in all parts of the country.

The industry's vast spending is needed to meet and to prepare for a surging demand for electric service. Beyond that, it makes for ever-improving dependability and economy of service -- the advances are qualitative as well as quantitative. Technological progress has made possible interconnection of far-flung power systems, through which peak values can be gained from each and power, as and when needed, can be transferred great distances.

A final note: The investor-owned electric industry's performance has proven, beyond rational dispute, that there is not the slightest need or justification for socialized power in the United States.

Need To See In The Dark

You might be closer to an accident than you think.

One - third of the nation's vehicles have rear lights and tail lights that are burned out or weak. This is one of the findings, is a just published, comprehensive study of nighttime accidents and their solutions that was researched by Prof. Edward G. Brown of the University of Washington.

If your car is one of the poorly-lighted ones, you are a sitting duck for a deadly rear-end collision at night.

Brown's study was prepared for the Washington State Legislature, which was seeking a solution to the problem posed by poorly-lighted vehicles.

Prof. Brown recommended license plates that glow brilliantly by reflecting light from auto headlights. They can be seen as far as 2,000 feet away. Seventeen states and the District of Columbia currently issue them as standard safety equipment for all vehicles.

As a result of Prof. Brown's recommendation, Washington has one of the nine state legislatures now considering bills calling for reflective "safety" plates for all vehicles.

Poorly-lighted vehicles are the "number one culprits" in night-time accidents, said Prof. Brown. It follows that they are the primary reason why night -accident rates are three times higher than day rates ic urban areas, and two-and-one-half times higher in rural areas.

If these poorly-lighted vehicles are stopped in traffic, parked in residential districts or moving more slowly than the stream of traffic, chances that they will become involved in rear-end collisions are magnified, Prof. Brown found.

His report to the Washington Legislature indicated that reflective license plates would substantially reduce the night-accident rate.

After reading the impressive substantiation of Prof. Brown's report, what can we do but agree?

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON SAY:

Tax loopholes put Burden on middle- income groups; oil industry biggest tax evader; some dodge all taxes on profits.

WASHINGTON -- Among his secret papers, President Johnson now has the first draft of a tax-reform message that would call upon congress to tighten the tax loopholes. It would be too much to ask, presumably, that the loopholes be closed entirely.

Yet even one turn of the tourniquet would slow the tax bleeding and save some of the billions now draining away. This would go far toward paying for the escalation of the Vietnam War.

Despite the pressing national need, however, the President is actually holding up his tax- reform message. He is enough of a political realist to know that it would bring the lobbyists swarming down upon the tax - writing house ways and means committee like the Viet Cong out of an ambush.

In the scramble to save their tax privileges, the pressure people could be expected to do more damage than several battalions of Viet Cong. Indeed, this President is afraid he not only would gain no reforms but would lose his tax increase in all the fuss, frenzy and flying feathers.

It is perhaps a measure of our morality that most special interests would be expected to put their pocketbooks ahead of patriotism.

The middle - income taxpayers - in the $10,000 to $20,000 bracket -- pay the largest share of their income to the Federal Government. Even low - income workers pay a greater share of their earnings as taxes than do the high - income taxpayers. Yet LBJ has asked for a 10 per cent tax increase that will compound the burden on the middle and lower brackets.

If this trend isn't soon reversed, a tax rebellion could result that would threaten our whole system of tax collection.

TAX - FREE MILLIONARIES

The latest available figures, for example, show that 19 millionaries who reported incomes of $1 million or more in 1964 paid no income tax whatsoever. The remaining 463 in the million - dollar bracket paid less than 30 per cent, on the average, though their tax rate was supposed to be 70 per cent.

The most gaping tax loophole, by all measurements, is the 27½ per cent oil depletion allowance. An estimated $2 billion to $3 billion leaks from the U.S. Treasury each year through this tax gap. This much more oil money is lost again through tax deductions for intangible drilling costs and royalties paid to foreign governments. In short, the less privileged taxpayers subsidize oil and gas from the time the first drill bites into the dust.

But the subsidy doesn't end after the oil is pumped out of the ground. The consumers also pay a rigged price for the final product, thanks to the interior department's limits on oil shipments into the country. The difference between what the consumer pays and what the imported oil costs ranges from $1.20 to $1.60 a barrel. Multiplied by some 900 million barrels of imported oil, this amounts to a bonanza of close to $1.5 billion a year for the happy oil importers.

The results of these abundant federal blessings can be seen, first of all in the oil companies' tax returns. The top 22 refiners, with a gross profit of more than $5.1 billion in 1964, paid only 4 per cent of that profit as U.S. income tax. This caterpillared up to 6.9 per cent in 1965 and, breaking all records, finally hit 8.5 per cent in 1966. But most other companies were paying 50 per cent, and most individuals between 20 and 30 per cent of their taxable incomes.

Comments Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., one of the few surviving members of congress who dares to oppose the powerful oil and gas lobby: "At a time when the war in Vietnam is exerting continuing pressures on our economy and when we are calling upon every citizen to make substantial sacrifices and when the administration is calling for a 10 per cent surtax charge, it seems to me we also ought to look at the loopholes which permit the giant oil companies to escape their fair share of taxes."

OIL COMPANY PROFITS

The Atlantic Oil Company, for example, has cleared a total of $410 million during the past five years but hasn't paid a penny of federal taxes. Marathon oil, after getting by without paying taxes for four years, finally coughed up 1.8 per cent of its earnings last year. Standard Oil of New Jersey, which has a greater income than most members of the United Nations, paid only 0.6 per cent of its staggering profit to internal revenue in 1962. This rose to 1.7 per cent in 1964. Last year, Esso paid 6.3 per cent of its $1.8 billion profit as taxes to Uncle Sam.

Of course, the federal tax structure is riddled with more loopholes than a medieval fortress. Corporations, for example, can break themselves into several smaller corporate entities in order to benefit from a lower tax rate.

Most tax loopholes, since they benefit businesses, are defended by corporate - minded Republicans who have been clamoring for spending cuts but have been keeping strangely quiet about tax reforms. The Republican ideas of tax reform, proposed by Rep. John Byrnes, R-Wis., is to eliminate the tax-free status of municipal development bonds. This would do no particular damage to the tax privileges of the great corporations.

Meanwhile, the majority of voters who pay the taxes that the oilmen and other millionaires escape are either unaware or unconcerned. Public interest in the great tax tangle is so low that a legislator simply can't count on the voters to reelect him for championing their cause. So legislators, who might prefer to stand up for the public interest, go on supporting the special interests, which not only pay close attention to what goes on in congress but find means to reward those who vote for their tax privileges.

OLD ADAM'S TRAVAIL

Grand Jury Wants to Know Who Paid For Powell's Fare to Those Teamsters' High Seas Fishing Junkets

Washington, D.C.: -- Adam Clayton Powell, Harlem's most prominent expatriate, is a great one for fishing in placid as well as troubled waters. Now, what that "extra" federal grand jury wants to know -- or perhaps already knows -- is: Did Powell heave to with Jimmy Hoffa's buddies off the Miami Beach shores in gayer, more carefree days.

The Teamsters loved this man from Manhattan. And there were fishing trips in saucy boats during which Adam regaled some of the Brotherhood's officials with even saucier tales

One such voyage got old Adam into deep water. The Teamsters layed on three craft for him and part of his staff of ten. This was nothing new. The Teamsters, especially the Southern Conference fellows, were always watering men and, as befits chaps of status, had "The Yellow Rose of Texas" anchored off the fashionable Castaways Motel on the gold coast.

Its master, Teamsters seventh vice - president Murray (Dusty) Miller, is a grand host and, for a man from Dallas, a fairly accomplished seafaring man. The grand jury wanted to know from him whether his hospitality was extended to ex- (or is it) Congressman Powell whose powerful Education and Labor Committee positively controlled over 40 per cent of all social legislation handled by the U.S. Congress.

Also, of greater interest to A. C. Powell, who testified for 65 minutes before an ordinary federal grand jury last Sept. 11, is the extra jury's decision to learn who paid for the travel expense of Powell and some of his staff between the Potomac and The beach. Fishing as a guest of the Teamsters is not exactly official business.

For the extra jury this has been no fishing expedition these past few weeks since it took over from the more formal jury sitting since last June. It has the hard date collected by the House committee which originally investigated and later provided the evidence for the House's ouster of Powell -- who won't make a move for his seat until he hears from several courts, including the big one.

There is not only the matter of his wife's government checks (which he cashed) but also his placing his maid-housekeeper on the Education and Labor Committee payroll.

Also, the matter of orders for the purchase of plane tickets in the name of staff members whose trips were charged to the House Committee credit cards.

But what disturbs Powell's friends most is the task the extra grand jury took over from its older counterpart:

There are documents in the U.S. District Court dockets here which disclose that the original jury was probing possible violations of federal law prohibiting bribery of public officials and witnesses, false or fraudulent claims against the government, improper use of public financial records, and willful concealment of facts about false or fraudulent statements.

The older grand jury prepared the way for the newer one by looking into alleged dealings between the former House labor committee chairman and labor and business groups. This phase of the regular jury's inquiry into Powell's activities reportedly was based on confidential allegations involving possible bribery. The allegations or charges arose during an investigation by the House of Representatives of Powell's tenure as chairman of his committee.

The allegations were dispatched to the Dept. of Justice last spring along with public records of the Powell hearings and the charges made by the investigators whose probe led to Powell's exclusion from the House last March 1. The House investigators passed the allegations on to the Justice Dept. as rumors because these were outside the House jurisdiction.

The documents containing these allegations now are in the Justice Dept.'s confidential files.

The Justice Dept. would not say who made these charges since the "matter now is in a grand jury proceeding." Powell has been as elusive as a latter-day Scarlet as flip as he was. His critics are proliferating. Most labor leaders loath him because he was considered a "one-man road block" against legislation they considered vital. Most of his old professional staff now are all over the East in new activities and rarely see him. His old political machine is in the hands of others. Even his old relationship with House Speaker McCormack is stretched mighty thin. There are few to rally to the once swashbuckling Congressman.

Bimini, it looks like he's in trouble and mighty alone.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!
VOTING ON THE WAR

Candidates often exhort voters to cast their ballots for issues, not personalities. Sometimes, though, the issues are either inconsequential or ill-defined. And victorious candidates have been known to approach a given issue differently after election day than they did during the campaign.

San Francisco voters thus will have an unusual opportunity on Tuesday, Nov. 7. They will be able to vote on the leading issue of the day -- the war in Viet Nam -- without the distraction of electing a candidate identified with it. An initiative on the ballot states that "It is the policy of the people of the city and county of San Francisco that there be an immediate cease-fire and withdrawal of U.S. troops from Viet Nam so that the Vietnamese people can settle their own problems."

The trouble with this statement is that it offers only one of many alternatives to current American policy in Viet Nam. Presumably San Franciscans' views of the war are as varied as those of people in other parts of the country. But the response to the initiative should nevertheless provide some indication of the depth of American war-weariness. A similar proposition on the Dearborn, Mich., ballot last November was supported by 14,124 voters and opposed by 20,667.

THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS IN AMERICA

In recent years, the Chinese Communists have been intesifying their independent operations in Latin America, gradually eliminating or replacing those efforts that had been initiated in cooperation with Moscow.

Their activity is characterized chiefly by an intensive propaganda, political, and subversive nature, which also tends to weaken the position of Moscow within the Communist Parties and other leftist circles of Latin America. For that purpose, in May 1960, China set up the Sino - Latin American Cultural & Friendship Association in Peiping, which is also used by the Castro movement to carry out its own subversive program in the Americas. The New China News Agency and the pro-Chinese persons who make up the international front organizations supplement its action.

Beginning in 1963, the activity of the Chinese Communists increased, and it is worth noting that in December 1963, the assistant director of the department of propaganda of the central committee of the Communist Party declared that Latin America was one of the places in the world where political parties that truly represent the proletariat will necessarily arise. The pro-Chinese Communist groups were therefore urged to seize the leadership of their various parties.

Parallel with that activity, economic support was given those groups, and an intensive campaign was begun to strengthen cultural ties, characterized by trips by Communist elements and Chinese sympathizers to Peiping. In this connection, invitations for "cultural" purposes were issued to parliamentarians, politicians, newspapermen, writers, artists, labor leaders and students, and, at the same time, their program of sending their own "cultural" missions to various Latin American countries was intensified. This Chinese Communist penetration program was especially well received by the Communist and intellectual youth groups.

In their efforts to penetrate these countries, the Chinese Communists have used these countries, the Chinese Communists have used these sympathizers and with their help have established and developed a number of "binational" organizations. Up to the present, the following are known:

Argentina: Sociedad Cultral Chino - Argentina (Chinese-Argentine Cultural Society).

Bolivia: Centro de Amistad Boliviano -China - Sovietico (Sino-Soviet Bolivian Friendship Center.)

Brazil: Sociedad Cultural Chino - Brasilena (Chinese-Brazilian Cultural Society).

Colombia: Asociacion de Amigos de China Popular (Association of Friends of the People's Republic of China).

Chile: Instituto Chileno - Chino de Cultura (Chinese - Chilean Cultural Institute).

Mexico: Sociedad de Amistad con China Popular (Society for Friendship With the People's Republic of China).

Peru: Asociacion de Amigos de China Popular (Association of Friends of the People's Republic of China).

Uruguay: Sociedad para la Amistad y el Intercambio con China Popular (Society for Friendship and Trade with the People's Republic of China).

Venezuela: Sociedad de Amistad Chino-Venezolana (Chinese-Venezuelan Friendship Society).

The above list, which covers only the period since Communist China, began giving added impetus to its relations with Latin America, clearly shows the intensity of its efforts at penetration. However, in some cases, the above-mentioned organizations are actually dominated by Communists and other leftist elements sympathizers of Moscow.

It should be pointed out that in 1963-64, Communist China made progress in its efforts to increase trade with various countries. It has held trade fairs in several of them, and has set up commercial representatives in others. In this way it has even succeeded in establishing official relations with Latin American countries . . .

80 MONTHS OF PROSPERITY

On Wednesday (Nov. 1) the American economy will enter what economists generally agree will be its 81st month of business expansion.

"IN TIMES OF PROSPERITY, Good Lord Preserve Us." These are indeed times of prosperity. The continuing business expansion in the United States has established an unheard of 80 months of general business expansion and wealth. No really serious breakers ahead are visible.

The Biblical allusion, on the word of Joseph W. Barr, under secretary of the Treasury, is from one of the oldest litanies in the Christian Church, dating back to around 400 A.D. Barr used it in a speech in Boston on Oct. 4 as a text for his argument that Treasury people have their suffering "compounded in times of prosperity, and most particularly in times of excessive prosperity." Basically the pitch was for President Johnson's proposed tax increase.

ECONOMIC FORECASTING at best is a chancy thing. Business watchers say there is still plenty of life in the amazing business boom which began roughly 80 months ago. Chase Manhattan Bank, for one, in its bi-monthly Business in Brief, looks for a "solidly based" advance for the last three months of 1967, based on "rising consumer buying."

The "technicians" of the prestigious Business Council at the group's semi-annual work and play meeting at Hot Springs, Va., on the next to last weekend in October predicted that the national output would climb throughout 1968. But they warned against further inflation. Even with higher taxes and curbed federal spending, they said, prices may go up as much as 3.5 per cent on the average.

The Commerce Department on Oct. 13 announced that the economy enjoyed a substantial upturn in the third quarter of this year. Gross national product rose to $790 billion at a seasonally adjusted rate. This was the largest three-month advance in a year and a half.

PERHAPS the best indicator of what has happened in the past nearly seven years of recession-free expansion is employment. Not quite 70 million Americans were employed when the boom began. Now some 74.6 million have jobs.

The unemployed some 80 months ago numbered 5.5 million. Now they are just under 3 million, despite a sharp upturn last month because of a large increase in women seeking to enter the labor force. Since 1961, gross national product is up 49 per cent. Consumer spending is up 46 per cent. Government spending is up 63 per cent. Business spending is up 47 per cent.

The National Association of Business Economists predicts a 1968 gross national product of $835 billion, up $52 billion from this year. Business Week magazine reports (Oct. 7): "The NABE -- which was a highly conservative forecasting record -- was virtually unanimous in thinking that the 1967 slowdown is over. Only 6 per cent of the forecasters polled thought that a recession was possible in 1968, although almost every forecaster. . . thought President Johnson would get his tax hike."

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Middle age is that period of life when—

The faces in your high school yearbook begin to look hauntingly unfamiliar—including your own.

You no longer open an envelope with the idea that it might possibly contain something for nothing.

It isn't as easy as it used to be to beat a nimble-footed old lady to an empty taxicab.

If you casually encounter someone you used to know, you tell him how well he looks and congratulate yourself secretly because you haven't aged so much as he.

You never buy anything without first inspecting its price tag in the hope that it has been reduced.

The mail brings more and more invitations to do things you don't want to do and to go places where you don't want to be.

You have pretty well figured out whom you would lend money to in an emergency—and how much.

Your hairline isn't receding so much as your forehead is getting nobler looking.

It is easier to wear something that doesn't quite fit you than it is to go through the bother of taking it back to the store and having it exchanged.

Anything that leaves you feeling too darned tired is hardly worth doing.

There are a lot more people who say "sir" to you than holler, "Hi!" You are slowly becoming accustomed to this difference in greeting.

The tougher the sport being played, the more you enjoy being an innocent spectator.

Although you sense a slight slowdown in your physical prowess, morally you are getting so much stronger that about half the time you can whip temptation with one arm tied behind you. Sin has acquired a resistible personality.

Every cocktail party you attend reminds you of at least three others you can remember at which you made a fool of yourself.

You have a wistful desire to gossip about other people less and help them more.

When you go to church, you find yourself nodding in agreement with the preacher before he has even reached the verb in the sentence he is saying. After all, you know there's a lot of truth in what he has in mind.

No longer do you retain youth's careless way of taking nature for granted. Each tree and bird and flower assumes its own individuality, and you are at least dimly thankful that each is there.

Yep, that's middle age. Middle age is what you make it—and what it makes of you.

Prof. Brown recommended license plates that glow brilliantly by reflecting light from auto headlights. They can be seen as far as 2,000 feet away. Seventeen states and the District of Columbia currently issue them as standard safety equipment for all vehicles.

As a result of Prof. Brown's recommendation, Washington has one of the nine state legislatures now considering bills calling for reflective "safety" plates for all vehicles.

Poorly-lighted vehicles are the "number one culprits" in nighttime accidents, said Prof. Brown. It follows that they are the primary reason why night -accident rates are three times higher than day rates ic urban areas, and two-and-one-half times higher in rural areas.

If these poorly-lighted vehicles are stopped in traffic, parked in residential districts or moving more slowly than the stream of traffic, chances that they will become involved in rear-end collisions are magnified, Prof. Brown found.

His report to the Washington Legislature indicated that reflective license plates would substantially reduce the night-accident rate.

After reading the impressive substantiation of Prof. Brown's report, what can we do but agree?

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON SAY:

Tax loopholes put Burden on middle- income groups; oil industry biggest tax evader; some dodge all taxes on profits.

WASHINGTON -- Among his secret papers, President Johnson now has the first draft of a tax-reform message that would call upon congress to tighten the tax loopholes. It would be too much to ask, presumably, that the loopholes be closed entirely.

Yet even one turn of the tourniquet would slow the tax bleeding and save some of the billions now draining away. This would go far toward paying for the escalation of the Vietnam War.

Despite the pressing national need, however, the President is actually holding up his tax- reform message. He is enough of a political realist to know that it would bring the lobbyists swarming down upon the tax - writing house ways and means committee like the Viet Cong out of an ambush.

In the scramble to save their tax privileges, the pressure people could be expected to do more damage than several battalions of Viet Cong. Indeed, this President is afraid he not only would gain no reforms but would lose his tax increase in all the fuss, frenzy and flying feathers.

It is perhaps a measure of our morality that most special interests would be expected to put their pocketbooks ahead of patriotism.

The middle - income taxpayers - in the $10,000 to $20,000 bracket -- pay the largest share of their income to the Federal Government. Even low - income workers pay a greater share of their earnings as taxes than do the high - income taxpayers. Yet LBJ has asked for a 10 per cent tax increase that will compound the burden on the middle and lower brackets.

If this trend isn't soon reversed, a tax rebellion could result that would threaten our whole system of tax collection.

TAX - FREE MILLIONARIES

The latest available figures, for example, show that 19 millionaries who reported incomes of $1 million or more in 1964 paid no income tax whatsoever. The remaining 463 in the million - dollar bracket paid less than 30 per cent, on the average, though their tax rate was supposed to be 70 per cent.

The most gaping tax loophole, by all measurements, is the 27½ per cent oil depletion allowance. An estimated $2 billion to $3 billion leaks from the U.S. Treasury each year through this tax gap. This much more oil money is lost again through tax deductions for intangible drilling costs and royalties paid to foreign governments. In short, the less privileged taxpayers subsidize oil and gas from the time the first drill bites into the dust.

But the subsidy doesn't end after the oil is pumped out of the ground. The consumers also pay a rigged price for the final product, thanks to the interior department's limits on oil shipments into the country. The difference between what the consumer pays and what the imported oil costs ranges from $1.20 to $1.60 a barrel. Multiplied by some 900 million barrels of imported oil, this amounts to a bonanza of close to $1.5 billion a year for the happy oil importers.

The results of these abundant federal blessings can be seen, first of all in the oil companies' tax returns. The top 22 refiners, with a gross profit of more than $5.1 billion in 1964, paid only 4 per cent of that profit as U.S. income tax. This caterpillared up to 6.9 per cent in 1965 and, breaking all records, finally hit 8.5 per cent in 1966. But most other companies were paying 50 per cent, and most individuals between 20 and 30 per cent of their taxable incomes.

Comments Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., one of the few surviving members of congress who dares to oppose the powerful oil and gas lobby: "At a time when the war in Vietnam is exerting continuing pressures on our economy and when we are calling upon every citizen to make substantial sacrifices and when the administration is calling for a 10 per cent surtax charge, it seems to me we also ought to look at the loopholes which permit the giant oil companies to escape their fair share of taxes."

OIL COMPANY PROFITS

The Atlantic Oil Company, for example, has cleared a total of $410 million during the past five years but hasn't paid a penny of federal taxes. Marathon oil, after getting by without paying taxes for four years, finally coughed up 1.8 per cent of its earnings last year. Standard Oil of New Jersey, which has a greater income than most members of the United Nations, paid only 0.6 per cent of its staggering profit to internal revenue in 1962. This rose to 1.7 per cent in 1964. Last year, Esso paid 6.3 per cent of its $1.8 billion profit as taxes to Uncle Sam.

Of course, the federal tax structure is riddled with more loopholes than a medieval fortress. Corporations, for example, can break themselves into several smaller corporate entities in order to benefit from a lower tax rate.

Most tax loopholes, since they benefit businesses, are defended by corporate - minded Republicans who have been clamoring for spending cuts but have been keeping strangely quiet about tax reforms. The Republican ideas of tax reform, proposed by Rep. John Byrnes, R-Wis., is to eliminate the tax-free status of municipal development bonds. This would do no particular damage to the tax privileges of the great corporations.

Meanwhile, the majority of voters who pay the taxes that the oilmen and other millionaires escape are either unaware or unconcerned. Public interest in the great tax tangle is so low that a legislator simply can't count on the voters to reelect him for championing their cause. So legislators, who might prefer to stand up for the public interest, go on supporting the special interests, which not only pay close attention to what goes on in congress but find means to reward those who vote for their tax privileges.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

OLD ADAM'S TRAVAIL

Grand Jury Wants to Know Who Paid For Powell's Fare to Those Teamsters' High Seas Fishing Junkets

Washington, D.C.: -- Adam Clayton Powell, Harlem's most prominent expatriate, is a great one for fishing in placid as well as troubled waters. Now, what that "extra" federal grand jury wants to know -- or perhaps already knows -- is: Did Powell heave to with Jimmy Hoffa's buddies off the Miami Beach shores in gayer, more carefree days.

The Teamsters loved this man from Manhattan. And there were fishing trips in saucy boats during which Adam regaled some of the Brotherhood's officials with even saucier tales

One such voyage got old Adam into deep water. The Teamsters layed on three craft for him and part of his staff of ten. This was nothing new. The Teamsters, especially the Southern Conference fellows, were always watering men and, as befits chaps of status, had "The Yellow Rose of Texas" anchored off the fashionable Castaways Motel on the gold coast.

Its master, Teamsters seventh vice - president Murray (Dusty) Miller, is a grand host and, for a man from Dallas, a fairly accomplished seafaring man. The grand jury wanted to know from him whether his hospitality was extended to ex- (or is it) Congressman Powell whose powerful Education and Labor Committee positively controlled over 40 per cent of all social legislation handled by the U.S. Congress.

Also, of greater interest to A. C. Powell, who testified for 65 minutes before an ordinary federal grand jury last Sept. 11, is the extra jury's decision to learn who paid for the travel expense of Powell and some of his staff between the Potomac and The beach. Fishing as a guest of the Teamsters is not exactly official business.

For the extra jury this has been no fishing expedition these past few weeks since it took over from the more formal jury sitting since last June. It has the hard date collected by the House committee which originally investigated and later provided the evidence for the House's ouster of Powell -- who won't make a move for his seat until he hears from several courts, including the big one.

There is not only the matter of his wife's government checks (which he cashed) but also his placing his maid-housekeeper on the Education and Labor Committee payroll.

Also, the matter of orders for the purchase of plane tickets in the name of staff members whose trips were charged to the House Committee credit cards.

But what disturbs Powell's friends most is the task the extra grand jury took over from its older counterpart:

There are documents in the U.S. District Court dockets here which disclose that the original jury was probing possible violations of federal law prohibiting bribery of public officials and witnesses, false or fraudulent claims against the government, improper use of public financial records, and willful concealment of facts about false or fraudulent statements.

The older grand jury prepared the way for the newer one by looking into alleged dealings between the former House labor committee chairman and labor and business groups. This phase of the regular jury's inquiry into Powell's activities reportedly was based on confidential allegations involving possible bribery. The allegations or charges arose during an investigation by the House of Representatives of Powell's tenure as chairman of his committee.

The allegations were dispatched to the Dept. of Justice last spring along with public records of the Powell hearings and the charges made by the investigators whose probe led to Powell's exclusion from the House last March 1. The House investigators passed the allegations on to the Justice Dept. as rumors because these were outside the House jurisdiction.

The documents containing these allegations now are in the Justice Dept.'s confidential files.

The Justice Dept. would not say who made these charges since the "matter now is in a grand jury proceeding." Powell has been as elusive as a latter-day Scarlet as flip as he was. His critics are proliferating. Most labor leaders loath him because he was considered a "one-man road block" against legislation they considered vital. Most of his old professional staff now are all over the East in new activities and rarely see him. His old political machine is in the hands of others. Even his old relationship with House Speaker McCormack is stretched mighty thin. There are few to rally to the once swashbuckling Congressman.

Bimini, it looks like he's in trouble and mighty alone.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Mitchel McLard

Carol Lee Cossey Marries Jerry M. McLard in Dexter

DEXTER -- Miss Carol Lee Cossey and Jerry Mitchel McLard were married Oct. 14 at 7 p.m. in the Apostolic Pentecostal church.

Miss Cossey is the daughter of Mrs. Katherine Cossey, 426 Matthews St., Sikeston, and Hurshel Cossey, Star Route, Dexter. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Lapham, 1001 North Sassafras.

The Rev. Roy King officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Miss Brenda Parris, pianist, accompanied Louise Smith of Gray Ridge, who sang "I Love You Truly."

Given in marriage by her uncle, J. W. Kellick of St. Louis, the bride wore a floor-length gown fashioned of white silk, satin and lace. The gown featured a deep lace yoke and a scalloped neckline. The lace sleeves ended in points over her hands. Lace encircled the hemline of the gown.

A crown of sequins secured the former Miss Cossey's veil. She carried a white Bible covered with lace and yellow tipped white carnations. Satin ribbon streamers and white lily of the valley complemented the bouquet.

Kathy Cossey, the bride's sister, was maid of honor. Flower girl was Nona Cossey, also a sister of the bride. Candlelighters were Mickey Dewitt of Sikeston and Louise Smith of Gray Ridge.

The maid of honor wore a yellow chiffon gown. The dress featured an empire waistline and A-line skirt. The lace covered bodice featured rounded necklines and short sleeves. She wore a short veil that matched her gown and carried a bouquet of yellow and white carnations. The flower girl's dress was identical to that of the maid of honor. She carried a basket of white carnation petals.

Candlelighters wore goldbrocade A-line dresses and corsages of white tipped in gold carnations.

Best man was Michael McLard, the groom's brother. Ringbearer was Starlin McLard, the groom's nephew. The Rev. Jimmy Karley and Harold Lindsey were ushers. The men in the wedding party wore dark suits and white carnation boutonnieres. The ringbearer carried a lace trimmed white satin pillow.

The bride's mother wore a three piece white trimed in blue knit suit, black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. Lapham wore a white knit dress with matching jacket, black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

A reception followed in the church basement. The bride's table was centered with a four tiered wedding cake. Punch was served from a milk glass bowl and mints were served from silver compotes. Novela McLard, the groom's sister-in-law, and Frances McLard, the groom's sister, served.

The couple will live at 322 Poplar St. The new Mrs. McLard was formerly employed by the International Hat Company in Oran. Her husband is employed by the Sterling Division of the Federal Mogul Corporation in Malden.

Out-of-town guests were Miss Marie McLard of Cape Girardeau, Mrs. Wilma Glenn, Mrs. Thelma Knowles and Carla, all of Bloomfield, Mrs. Sue Perry, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Smith, all of Sikeston, and Mrs. J. W. Kellick and Mike of St. Louis.

Jackie Arrives in Bangkok

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Looking fresh and cool in white, Mrs. John F. Kennedy stepped from an Italian airliner into Bangkok's 100-degree noonday heat and kissed the cheek of Washington newsman Charles Bartlett.

Mrs. Kennedy and Lord Harlech, the widowed former British ambassador to Washington, arrived from Rome to join Bartlett, a columnist for the Chicago Sun-Times, his wife, and Michael Forrestal, son of the late U.S. secretary of defense, for a trip to Cambodia and the ruins of Angkor Wat.

Although Cambodia's chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, broke relations with the United States in March 1965 and has repeatedly accused U.S. forces in Vietnam of violating his frontier, a U.S. Air Force plane will take Mrs. Kennedy and her party to Phnom Penh, the Cambodian capital, on Thursday.

Before returning to Bangkok Nov. 8, Mrs. Kennedy will dedicate a street named for her husband in the port of Sihanoukville as well as visit the famed temple ruins that are one of the most notable tourist attractions in Asia.

Mrs. Kennedy is scheduled to spend three days in Bangkok after her return.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Mitchel McLard

Carol Lee Cossey Marries Jerry M. McLard in Dexter

DEXTER -- Miss Carol Lee Cossey and Jerry Mitchel McLard were married Oct. 14 at 7 p.m. in the Apostolic Pentecostal church.

Miss Cossey is the daughter of Mrs. Katherine Cossey, 426 Matthews St., Sikeston, and Hurshel Cossey, Star Route, Dexter. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Lapham, 1001 North Sassafras.

The Rev. Roy King officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Miss Brenda Parris, pianist, accompanied Louise Smith of Gray Ridge, who sang "I Love You Truly."

Given in marriage by her uncle, J. W. Kellick of St. Louis, the bride wore a floor-length gown fashioned of white silk, satin and lace. The gown featured a deep lace yoke and a scalloped neckline. The lace sleeves ended in points over her hands. Lace encircled the hemline of the gown.

A crown of sequins secured the former Miss Cossey's veil. She carried a white Bible covered with lace and yellow tipped white carnations. Satin ribbon streamers and white lily of the valley complemented the bouquet.

Kathy Cossey, the bride's sister, was maid of honor. Flower girl was Nona Cossey, also a sister of the bride. Candlelighters were Mickey Dewitt of Sikeston and Louise Smith of Gray Ridge.

The maid of honor wore a yellow chiffon gown. The dress featured an empire waistline and A-line skirt. The lace covered bodice featured rounded necklines and short sleeves. She wore a short veil that matched her gown and carried a bouquet of yellow and white carnations. The flower girl's dress was identical to that of the maid of honor. She carried a basket of white carnation petals.

Candlelighters wore gold brocade A-line dresses and corsages of white tipped in gold carnations.

Best man was Michael McLard, the groom's brother. Ringbearer was Starlin McLard, the groom's nephew. The Rev. Jimmy Karley and Harold Lindsey were ushers. The men in the wedding party wore dark suits and white carnation boutonnieres. The ringbearer carried a lace trimmed white satin pillow.

The bride's mother wore a three piece white trimed in blue knit suit, black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. Lapham wore a white knit dress with matching jacket, black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

A reception followed in the church basement. The bride's table was centered with a four tiered wedding cake. Punch was served from a milk glass bowl and mints were served from silver compotes. Novela McLard, the groom's sister-in-law, and Frances McLard, the groom's sister, served.

The couple will live at 322 Poplar St. The new Mrs. McLard was formerly employed by the International Hat Company in Oran. Her husband is employed by the Sterling Division of the Federal Mogul Corporation in Malden.

Out-of-town guests were Miss Marie McLard of Cape Girardeau, Mrs. Wilma Glenn, Mrs. Thelma Knowles and Carla, all of Bloomfield, Mrs. Sue Perry, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Smith, all of Sikeston, and Mrs. J. W. Kellick and Mike of St. Louis.

Jackie Arrives in Bangkok

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Looking fresh and cool in white, Mrs. John F. Kennedy stepped from an Italian airliner into Bangkok's 100-degree noonday heat and kissed the cheek of Washington newsman Charles Bartlett.

Mrs. Kennedy and Lord Harlech, the widowed former British ambassador to Washington, arrived from Rome to join Bartlett, a columnist for the Chicago Sun-Times, his wife, and Michael Forrestal, son of the late U.S. secretary of defense, for a trip to Cambodia and the ruins of Angkor Wat.

Although Cambodia's chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, broke relations with the United States in March 1965 and has repeatedly accused U.S. forces in Vietnam of violating his frontier, a U.S. Air Force plane will take Mrs. Kennedy and her party to Phnom Penh, the Cambodian capital, on Thursday.

Before returning to Bangkok Nov. 8, Mrs. Kennedy will dedicate a street named for her husband in the port of Sihanoukville as well as visit the famed temple ruins that are one of the most notable tourist attractions in Asia.

Mrs. Kennedy is scheduled to spend three days in Bangkok after her return.

John Brown Breaks Into Scoring Lead

One touchdown separates the top three district scorers as the football season moves into its next to last week Friday night.

Poplar Bluff's John Brown broke his three-week scoring deadlock with teammate Leroy Moss with one touchdown last Friday at Charleston and leads the district with 13 for 78 points.

Moss was held scoreless as the Charleston Bluejays whipped the previously undefeated Mules, 7-6 for their first loss in 21 consecutive games Friday.

Southern division's Carl Barker of Malden jumped into a second place tie with Moss with a TD against East Prairie Friday but teammate Randy Pace, who was in eighth place in the south scoring race and 23rd in the district, jumped into a fifth place tie in the district with four TD runs, lifting his total to nine and one extra point. This gave the speedster 55 points for a tie with the northern division's Mike Gott of Perryville, who has carried for five TDs but leads the district in extra point conversions with 25.

Perryville's Randy Taylor holds down fourth place in the district race with 56 points on nine TDs and two extra points.

Four of the top six district leaders are nothern division players.

Mark Norrid of the co-leading Malden Green Waves leads the south in extra point conversions with 14, one ahead of Portageville's Dennis Fisher, Caruthersville Mike Fisher and Dexter's Ron Atherton.

Webb Edwards of Sikeston ranks second in the north extra point race with 20.

Big Red Meet Skins

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- Back in a three-way tie for first place in the tangled Century Division, the St. Louis Cardinals invade Washington this week to take on the Redskins.

Game time is 12:15 p.m. (St. Louis time).

The Cardinals, after a 31-23 loss to the Green Bay Packers Monday night, have a 4-3 record and are tied with Cleveland and New York. The Browns are at Pittsburgh and the Giants at Minnesota on Sunday.

A year ago, the Redskins handed the Big Red its first loss of the season, 26-20, to go one-up in the long series between the clubs.

The Skins have won 21 games, the Cardinals 20 and there has been one tie. Always a dangerous foe, the Redskins have not won in four weeks, losing to Dallas by three points, to the Colts by four and playing a pair of ties, Washington has a 2-3-2 mark.

The Cardinals, rolling up 405 yards against the Packers, used the Jim Hart-to-Dave Williams combination for a pair of touchdowns. Jim Bakken, adding three field goals, became the sixth man in the NFL history to boot 100 field goals. Bakken is tied at an even 100 with Pat Summerall. Ahead of him are Lou Groza (227), Sam Baker (139), Lou Michaels (136) and Tommy Davis (112).

John Roland, gaining 56 yards rushing, ran his season total to 515 for seven games, putting him more than halfway toward a 1000-yard season. Bobby Joe Conrad held the receiving lead with 24, closely followed by Jackie Smith (22) and Williams (17). Williams' two scoring grabs gave him the touchdown catch lead with four.

After Sunday, the Cardinals return home to meet Pittsburgh, then go on a two-game trip to face the Bears and the Dallas Cowboys. They then play the New Orleans Saints and Cleveland Browns at home before closing the season at New York on December 17. Tickets are on sale for the remaining home games.

Deer Hunters Fined $300

LINN -- Two Meta, men were fined $300 plus costs each and sentenced to six months in jail when they pleaded guilty in Magistrate Court to possessing deer killed with firearms outside the firearms season. The jail sentences were suspended.

Conservation Agents Gary R. Howard and Richard Schroeder said they summoned the two after the men had "spotlighted" three deer. They found a pair, Jim E. Barnhart and Allie W. Helton, in a field near the Deer community in Osage County at 1:30 a.m. the morning of Oct. 8.

The agents said the men had killed a button buck and two does, using a spotlight and high-power rifles.

South Iron Opens Cage Action

ANNAPOLIS -- South Iron high cagers their 1967-68 basketball season at home last night with a rousing 74-57 victory over Ellsinore.

Center Brian Young whipped in 25 points for the winners. Teammate Marvin Wyatt clipped in 22 from his forward position.

Berry Stahl had 19 points from his guard position in leading the losers.

South Iron will be host to Centerville Tuesday night for a pair of games.

Citadel Entered In 5th Annual A-State Tourney

JONESBORO -- Arkansas State University has drawn The Citadel for the fifth annual Holiday Basketball Tournament planned at Indian Field House Dec. 27-28. Western Michigan University will meet New Mexico State University in the opening game of the four-team tourney.

Pairings were announced today by ASU Athletic Director J. A. "Ike" Tomlinson.

Three conferences will be represented in the tourney, two of which are major. Western Michigan of Kalamazoo will represent the Mid-America Conference and The Citadel of Charleston, S.C., is a member of the Southern Conference, both major conferences. Arkansas State is a member of the Southland Conference, a college - division league which will be major in the fall of 1968, and New Mexico State of Las Cruces is a major independent.

Western Michigan and New Mexico State will open the tourney Dec. 27 at 7 p.m. with Arkansas State meeting the Citadel in the nightcap at 9 p.m. Winners of the first round will meet for the championship Thursday night at 9 p.m. Losers will vie for third place at 7 p.m.

Previous winners of A-State's Holiday Tournament were Texas A&M in 1962, Texas Western in 1963, Miami of Ohio in 1965 and the University of Houston in 1966.

Jaycees Sponsor Deer Headquarters At Willow Springs

WILLOW SPRINGS -- A large deer hunter's headquarters will be sponsored by the Jaycees. The first season will be Nov. 18-22 and the second Dec. 1-3.

Jaycees will sponsor a free bean supper Nov. 17 and will provide free maps and coffee during both seasons. Guide service will be available and free prizes will be awarded for the largest buck, largest doe and smallest deer.

The Missouri Conservation Commission will maintain a deer checking station.

For guide reservations and motel accommodations, call Frank Hicks 469-3037 after 6 p.m. weekdays.

Big Red Meet Skins

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- Back in a three-way tie for first place in the tangled Century Division, the St. Louis Cardinals invade Washington this week to take on the Redskins.

Game time is 12:15 p.m. (St. Louis time).

The Cardinals, after a 31-23 loss to the Green Bay Packers Monday night, have a 4-3 record and are tied with Cleveland and New York. The Browns are at Pittsburgh and the Giants at Minnesota on Sunday.

A year ago, the Redskins handed the Big Red its first loss of the season, 26-20, to go one-up in the long series between the clubs.

The Skins have won 21 games, the Cardinals 20 and there has been one tie. Always a dangerous foe, the Redskins have not won in four weeks, losing to Dallas by three points, to the Colts by four and playing a pair of ties, Washington has a 2-3-2 mark.

The Cardinals, rolling up 405 yards against the Packers, used the Jim Hart-to-Dave Williams combination for a pair of touchdowns. Jim Bakken, adding three field goals, became the sixth man in the NFL history to boot 100 field goals. Bakken is tied at an even 100 with Pat Summerall. Ahead of him are Lou Groza (227), Sam Baker (139), Lou Michaels (136) and Tommy Davis (112).

John Roland, gaining 56 yards rushing, ran his season total to 515 for seven games, putting him more than halfway toward a 1000-yard season. Bobby Joe Conrad held the receiving lead with 24, closely followed by Jackie Smith (22) and Williams (17). Williams' two scoring grabs gave him the touchdown catch lead with four.

After Sunday, the Cardinals return home to meet Pittsburgh, then go on a two-game trip to face the Bears and the Dallas Cowboys. They then play the New Orleans Saints and Cleveland Browns at home before closing the season at New York on December 17. Tickets are on sale for the remaining home games.

Deer Hunters Fined $300

LINN -- Two Meta, men were fined $300 plus costs each and sentenced to six months in jail when they pleaded guilty in Magistrate Court to possessing deer killed with firearms outside the firearms season. The jail sentences were suspended.

Conservation Agents Gary R. Howard and Richard Schroeder said they summoned the two after the men had "spotlighted" three deer. They found a pair, Jim E. Barnhart and Allie W. Helton, in a field near the Deer community in Osage County at 1:30 a.m. the morning of Oct. 8.

The agents said the men had killed a button buck and two does, using a spotlight and high-power rifles.

South Iron Opens Cage Action

ANNAPOLIS -- South Iron high cagers their 1967-68 basketball season at home last night with a rousing 74-57 victory over Ellsinore.

Center Brian Young whipped in 25 points for the winners. Teammate Marvin Wyatt clipped in 22 from his forward position.

Berry Stahl had 19 points from his guard position in leading the losers.

South Iron will be host to Centerville Tuesday night for a pair of games.

Jaycees Sponsor Deer Headquarters At Willow Springs

WILLOW SPRINGS -- A large deer hunter's headquarters will be sponsored by the Jaycees. The first season will be Nov. 18-22 and the second Dec. 1-3.

Jaycees will sponsor a free bean supper Nov. 17 and will provide free maps and coffee during both seasons. Guide service will be available and free prizes will be awarded for the largest buck, largest doe and smallest deer.

The Missouri Conservation Commission will maintain a deer checking station.

For guide reservations and motel accommodations, call Frank Hicks 469-3037 after 6 p.m. weekdays.

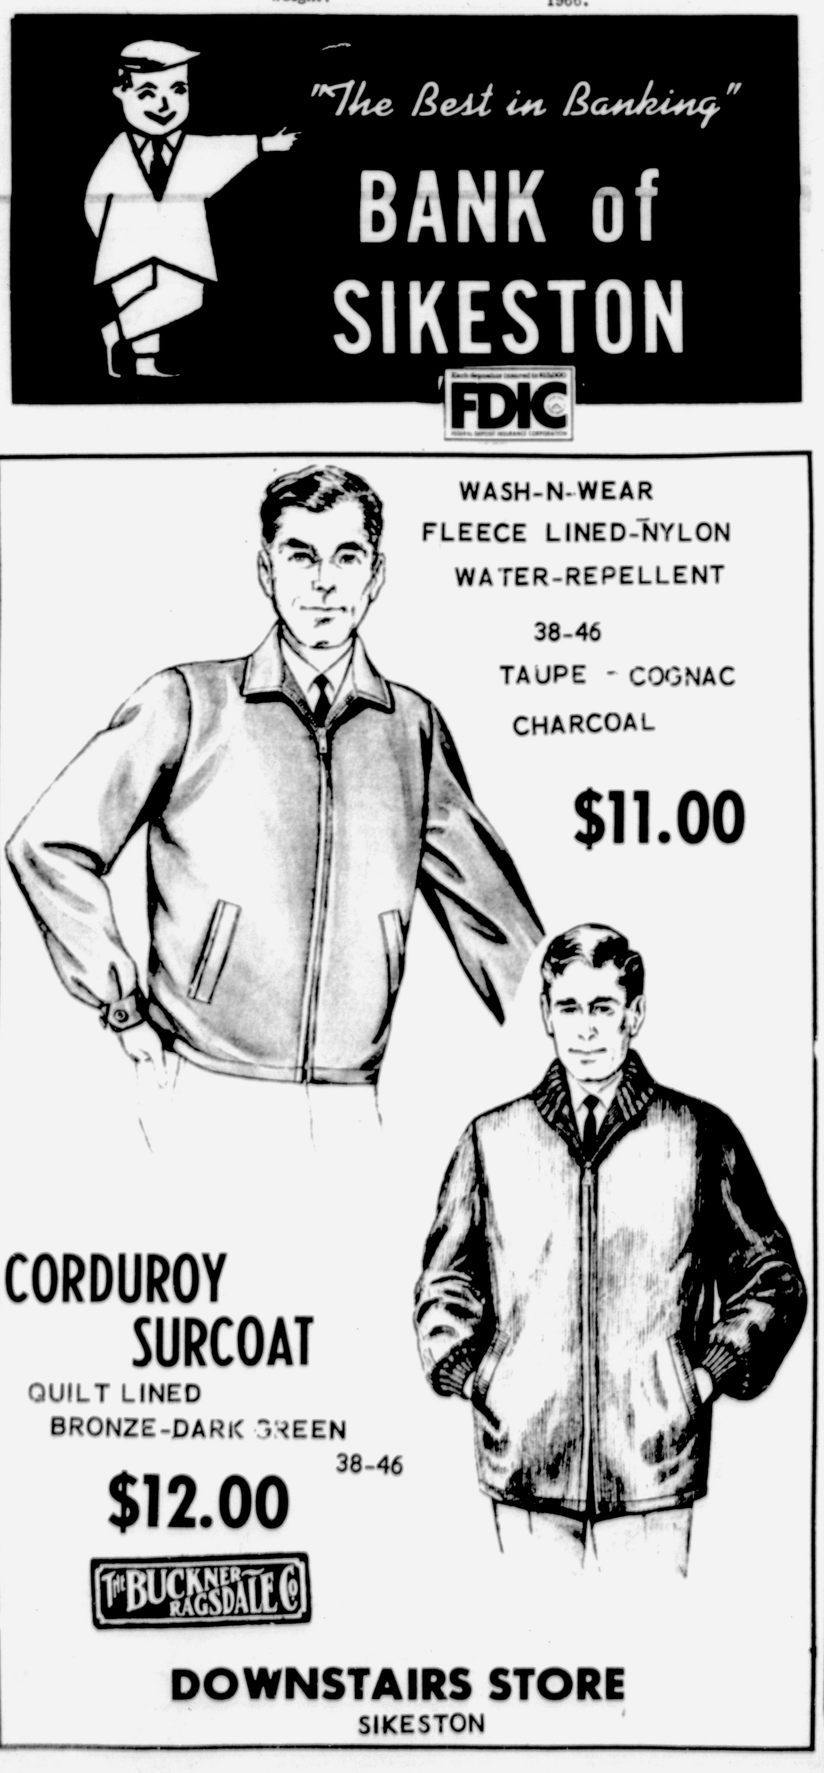

Relief for night-backache lets you sleep again

Bell Reduces Rates on Long Distance Calls

Missouri customers of Southwestern Bell will share with other Bell System customers in a $100 million reduction in long distance rates. The reductions apply to calls to points outside Missouri.

The new interstate rates were filed with the Federal Communications Commission by the Bell System last month and went into effect today.

Telephone users will benefit three ways under the new rates:

Lower charges on many calls. For example, under the present rate a three-minute station-to-station call between 6 p.m. and 8 p.m. Monday through Saturday from Sikeston to New York costs $1.05. Under the new rate, the same call placed between 5 p.m. and 7 p.m. Monday through Friday will cost 90 cents. A three-minute station-to-station call placed on Saturday under the new rate will be 70 cents.

Longer time periods and added days (Saturday and certain holidays) when low rates apply.

A new midnight to a.m. dial rate with a 75-cent maximum charge within the continental United States.

The package features major reductions but has small increases for some interstate calls under 24 miles. Overall, it provides a savings to customers of $100 million.

The new rates represent the 22nd major cost reduction since coast-to-coast service began in 1915. The first year, a call between New York and San Francisco cost $20.70. Reductions followed, and by 1940 the day rate was $4. The dramatic $1 night rate came in 1963 for calls after 9 p.m. followed in 1965 by after 8 p.m.

In this 52-year period, the consumer price index has tripled, but the lowest rate for a transcontinental call is now less than 1/20 of the 1915 level.

The 8 1/2 hour span of the present night rate will be extended to 12 hours. To be named after 7 and weekend, it will extend from 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. each weekday, plus all day Saturday and Sunday. At the longest distance, the rate is $1 for a three-minute station-to-station call.

The after 7 and weekend rate also will apply all day on Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Year's Day, July 4 and Labor Day. The effect in 1968 will be 109 days -- Saturdays, Sundays and Holidays -- when the after 7 and weekend rate applies. The present night rate period will begin an hour earlier, becoming 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. each weekday and will be named after 5. The rate for maximum distance will be lowered from $1.50 to $1.25 for the first three minutes of a station-to-station call.

Daytime station rates beyond 468 miles will be lowered and the maximum for a call across the country will drop from $2 to $1.75 for the first three minutes. The new weekday station rates will apply from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. A new midnight to 7 special dial rate will be introduced featuring a 75-cent maximum for a call across the country. The rate will apply from midnight to 7 a.m., seven days a week, for three-minute station-to-station calls dialed by the customer from non-coin phones, or station-to-station calls where direct distance dialing is not available, beyond 354 miles from non-coin phones. Credit card, collect, or other calls needing operator assistance will not be included. The new midnight to 7 special dial rate and the extension of the night rate will be of special benefit to both residence and business users on the Pacific coast in placing calls to the East coast.

Person-to-person rates will also be lowered. The maximum daytime rate for three-minutes will drop from $3.50 to $3.30. After 5 p.m., the maximum will be reduced from $3 to $2.85 for the first three minutes.

Other reduced rates will include lowered - (wide area telephone service - rates, and reductions on some overseas service. Included are rate increases for some interstate calls from 0 to 24 miles. None of these increases will be more than five-cents for the initial period. These increases are needed to improve the relationship between costs and charges for short-distance telephone calls.

Manager Says Plant Closing Rumors False

NEOSHO, Mo. (AP)— Ole L. Thorsen, manager of the Rocketdyne rocket engine plant here, said Tuesday night there is no intention to close the plant.

Thorsen said he told employees Tuesday that the plant, a subsidiary of North American Aviation, was having difficulty getting work to continue present operations, but "there is no intention to close down the plant."

"We have nothing official as to what might happen," he said.

There have been rumors, he said, that the plant, which employs about 1,000 workers, be closed.

Rocketdyne manufactures H-1 Apollo engines, Thor missile engines, Thor missile engines and overhauls Atlas engines.

Matthew Fontaine Maury, an American naval officer, is often called the "Pathfinder of the Seas."

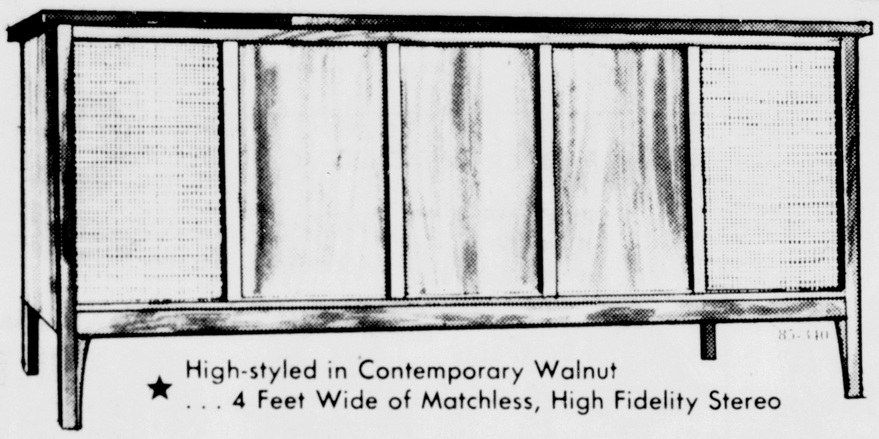

POSTER CHILD for the 1968 March of Dimes 30th anniversary campaign is 4-year-old Timmy Faas of Whittier, Calif. He symbolizes more than 250,000 American children born each year with birth defects. Timmy, born with an open spine, had surgical treatment when he was five days old and can now walk with the aid of full leg braces and crutches.

Long Took Fee in Case Shenker Reported He Was Sole Counsel

ST. LOUIS -- Records in probate court show that Morris Shenker wrote that he and his law firm were the sole legal counsel for the late Mrs. Thelma Manne. She was named earlier by Senator Edward V. Long as one of the five clients for whom both he and Shenker performed legal services.

Senator Long has received more than $140,000 from Shenker since 1961 for what now is described as his work on the five cases.

At first Long said he was paid referral fees but he later denied that he was paid for referrals and said he was paid for legal work he performed.

Mrs. Manne died when on a world cruise in July 1962. Claims for legal fees filed by Shenker against her estate relate that he became legal counsel for Mrs. Manne prior to the death of her husband, Max, on Dec. 20, 1958.

Both Shenker and Long said yesterday that Mrs. Manne was a client of the Senator for several years before the Shenker firm became involved.

Senator Long said Mrs. Manne was the oldest of the five clients whose names he gave the Senate Committee on Standards and Ethics. He said Shenker was asked by him to enter the case about a year after he first began representing Mrs. Manne in 1952 or 1953. The Senate Committee cleared Long of any wrongdoing in connection with the fee arrangement.

In 1964 Shenker filed claims against Mrs. Manne's estate. There were two claims -- one for attorneys' fees and another for obtaining a purchaser for stock owned by Mrs. Manne in the Artistic Furniture Co., a firm operated by her husband.

At one point in the litigation, Shenker wrote a detailed letter to Israel Treiman, administrator of the estate, to substantiate his claims.

It said in part:

"To my knowledge, the deceased had no other person besides myself and my firm advise her professionally about her affairs and property."

Shenker said that Senator Long's share of the fee on the Manne case was for work performed some time before the woman died. The records on file in probate court show that frequently Mrs. Manne did not pay Shenker any fee for legal services performed before her husband died and while efforts were being made to settle her husband's estate.

Shenker pointed out in court records that he had received a card from Mrs. Manne from Hawaii, shortly before her death, in which she urged him to settle her husband's estate so he could be paid for his legal services.

Testimony of several other witnesses on file show that Shenker had not received any payment for his services up until the time of Mrs. Manne's death.

The woman's estate was valued at more than $1,000,000.

On May 4, 1965, the court issued an order allowing payment of $106,030 to Shenker. Of the total $52,200 was for his claim for attorney's fees, and $53,830 was for his services in obtaining a purchase of stock owned by Mrs. Manne. Shenker filed two separate claims against the estate.

Shenker noted yesterday that the Senate Committee that investigated Long's connection with the St. Louis law firm had obtained the court records in the Manne case and studied them in detail.

Long told the Post-Dispatch yesterday that the agreement between him and Shenker in the Manne case was the same for all the five cases for which he received payment. The agreement, in general, Long said, was that he would not appear in court and that his name would not appear on any public records of the cases involved.

The Senator knew about Shenker's letter to the administrator of the estate and said that it had been filed in Shenker's name and the names of his associates.

Long has claimed from the outset that he performed work on each of the five cases. He testified before the committee that the money received from Shenker represented his share of fees earned by Shenker and himself. Shenker's testimony before the committee was along the same line.

The clients in addition to Mrs. Manne were the R. L. Warren Co., a stock brokerage firm here; the Associated Life Insurance Co. of Chicago, a firm which has its chief source of business members of the Teamsters Union; Banner Industries of St. Louis, and Max Lubin, a St. Louis real estate and insurance man.

The co-executor of the estate of Mrs. Manne has said in a sworn statement on file in probate court that she and her late husband referred Mrs. Manne to Shenker in 1954 for legal help.

Mrs. Jean Srenco gave the statement as part of a probate court inquiry into the validity of two claims totaling nearly $150,000 filed against Mrs. Manne's estate by Shenker. He claimed Mrs. Manne owed him money for services he performed prior to her death in July, 1962.

Mrs. Srenco said she became acquainted with Mrs. Manne in the late 1940s and that they became very close friends.

In 1954, according to the statement, Mrs. Manne complained to the Srencos about certain domestic problems she was having with her husband, the late Max Manne.

"During one of these conversations Mrs. Manne suggested that perhaps she needed the advice of counsel and my husband suggested to her that she call Mr. Shenker," Mrs. Srenco said.

"Mrs. Manne then contacted Mr. Shenker and from that time in 1954 until the time of Mr. Manne's death in December, 1958, I became familiar with the fact, from conversations with Mrs. Manne, that Mr. Shenker represented her extensively with regard to her property interests and with regard to her domestic difficulties with her husband," she related.

"Thereafter," Mrs. Srenco continued, "after the death of Mr. Manne, Mr. Shenker to my knowledge represented Mrs. Manne extensively with regard to her interest in the estate of her deceased husband.

"During the year 1962 Mrs. Manne and I went on a trip around the world and this trip lasted approximately 10 weeks.

"Not a day passed during this trip that Mrs. Manne did not discuss Mr. Shenker and the services which he had performed and was then performing for her."

Senator Long has received between $150,000 and $160,000 from Shenker since 1961, for what they have described as the senator's work on the five cases, including Mrs. Manne's.

Both Senator Long and Shenker say Mrs. Manne, as well as the others, were the senator's clients first, and then Shenker was brought in.

Prior to Mrs. Manne's death, Shenker and Mrs. Srenco were named co-executors of her estate under the terms of a will drawn by Shenker.

Subsequent to the death, St. Louis attorney Israel Treimann was appointed to the probate court to investigate the validity of Shenker's claims against the estate. It was as part of his inquiry that the statement was taken from Mrs. Srenco on Nov. 30, 1964.

At one point in the investigation Shenker wrote a detailed letter to Treimann to substantiate his claims. It said in part:

"To my knowledge, the deceased (Mrs. Manne) had no other person advise her professionally about her affairs and property."

In another part of the same letter Shenker made reference to the same set of circumstances described by Mrs. Srenco, which first brought Mrs. Manne to him.

The letter recounted the domestic difficulties of the Mannes as well as Mrs. Manne's concern about her husband divesting himself of much of his business properties.

Cannons of ethics of both the Missouri and American Bar Associations prohibit a lawyer from accepting a fee simply for referring a client to another lawyer. The first lawyer must do some of the work to be entitled to part of the fee.

Mother and 4 Children Killed

RAYMONDVILLE, Mo. (AP) — Five persons are dead as the result of a headon collision of two cars Tuesday on a Texas County road about half a mile east of Raymondville.

Dead are Mrs. Agnes Smith, 29, of Raymondville, and four children, Sylvia Irene, 7, Kathryn Dianna, 4, John, 2, and Melissa Anne, 1.

Another daughter, Rosemary, 10, was injured and two other Smith children were in school at the time of the accident.

The driver of the second car, James Wayne Lee Jr., 19, of Raymondville, was in critical condition at Springfield Baptist Hospital. His injuries included fractures of both legs.

Convicted Slayer's Sentencing Delayed

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Superior Court officials said Tuesday that sentencing of Robert Benjamin Smith, convicted of killing four women and a girl, has been postponed until Nov. 8.

Smith, 19, a former Mesa High School honor student, was found guilty of the Nov. 12, 1966, mass slaying last week by a jury which fixed his penalty at death.

The sentencing had been set for Tuesday but was postponed because Smith's attorney, Rod Wood, was ill.

Under state law, the judge must carry out the jurors' decree in pronouncing sentence.

Mrs. Jerry Barbour, Dexter, Paints, Sketches, Antiques

Editor's Note: This is the 61st in a series of articles about the home life of Sikeston area families.

By RUTH DILLENDER

DEXTER - Mrs. Becky Barbour says she learned to cook out of necessity after she was married. She says she enjoys cooking.

Mrs. Barbour and her husband, Jerry have three sons, Michael, 10, a fifth grade student at Southwest elementary school; Jay, second grade student at Southwest elementary school, and Christopher, 10 months old.

Mrs. Barbour is a partner in Bootheel Petroleum Company. She likes fishing and hunting.

Mrs. Barbour's hobbies are painting, sketching, arranging flowers and antiquing furniture.

The family attends the First Missionary Baptist church where Mrs. Barbour is counselor of the intermediate girls auxiliary.

Mrs. Barbour is a school room mother and a member of a Parent-Teacher association.

Camping and swimming are activities the Barbour family enjoy together.

Being organized is an important part of running a household, Mrs. Barbour says.

Treasures in the home are a trunk that belonged to her great-grandmother and original tintypes of John and Matilda Kenton Parkinson, ancestors of Mrs. Barbour.

Favorite recipes of the Barbour family are:

PEACH CRUMB CAKE

This recipe makes nine servings.

1 box yellow cake mix
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ cup melted butter
2 cups unpeeled, sliced fresh peaches (frozen peaches will do), cup cream of chicken soup
Divide dry cake mix in half (about 2 cups dry mix is half of the box)

Two loaf-size cake pans can be used. Prepare half spoon basin.

Place half of the noodles in of mix as package directs, baking dish. Cover with half using just half the ingredients, of mushroom sauce, half cotand set aside. Pour rest tage cheese, half chicken, half of batter into greased nine-inch American cheese and half Parsquare pan. mesan cheese. Repeat. End with Parmesan cheese.

Combine remaining half of dry cake mix, cinnamon and nutmeg. Stir in melted butter to make large crumbs.

Bake 45 minutes at 350 degrees until hot and bubbly.

Frozen Pineapple Dessert

2 eggs
Pinch of Salt
1/8 cup sugar
Vanilla wafers
½ pint whipping cream
1 small can crushed pineapple.

Separate eggs and drain pineapple. Make custard with the three egg yolks, sugar, pineapple juice and salt. Cook over low heat until it coats spoon.

Cool and add crushed pineapple. Beat egg whites until stiff. Whip cream. Fold egg whites into custard mixture. Fold cream in next.

Make crumbs of wafers, butter two cake trays, bottom and sides and line with wafer crumbs. Make crumbs heavier on bottom.

Pour mixture into trays. Cover top with crumbs. Freeze. Remove from freezer about 10 minutes before serving.

Peanut Butter Fingers

Cream:
½ cup butter

Add:
½ cup sugar and ½ cup firmly packed brown sugar. Cream well.

Blend in:
1 unbeaten egg
1/3 cup peanut butter
½ teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon vanilla

Stir in:
1 cup Pillsbury Best all-purpose flour and 1 cup quick-cooking rolled oats

Spread in greased 13 by 9-inch pan. Bake 20 to 25 minutes at 350 degrees.

Sprinkle pie with one six-ounce package Nestle's semi-sweet chocolate morsels. Let stand five minutes. The morsels don't lose their shape, but are soft enough to spread.

Combine ½ cup sifted powdered sugar, ¼ cup peanut butter and 2 to 4 tablespoons Pet Milk. Mix well.

Spread chocolate evenly. Drizzle with peanut butter mix. Cool and cut into bars. Makes four dozen.

2 cups shredded American cheese

½ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Cook noodles in large amount of boiling salted water. Drain and rinse in cold water. Drain again.

Sauce:

Cook ½ cup each: chopped onion and green pepper in three tablespoons butter. Stir in one can cream of chicken soup. Divide dry cake mix in half (about 2 cups dry mix is half of the box) Two loaf-size cake pans can be used. Prepare half spoon basin.

Place half of the noodles in baking dish. Cover with half of mushroom sauce, half cottage cheese, half chicken, half American cheese and half Parmesan cheese. Repeat. End with Parmesan cheese.

Editor's Note: This is the 61st in a series of articles about the home of oldSikeston area families.

by RUTH DILLENDER

DEXTER – Mrs. Becky Barbour says she learned to cook out of necessity after she was married. She says she enjoys cooking.

Mrs. Barbour and her husband, Jerry, have three sons, Michael, 10, a fifth grade student at Southwest elementary school; Jay, eight, a second grade student at Southwest elementary school; and Christopher, two.

The family lives at 720 Alice St. Barbour is a partner in the Bootheel Petroleum Company. He likes fishing and hunting.

Mrs. Barbour's hobbies are painting, sketching, arranging flowers and antiquing furniture.

The family attends the First Missionary Baptist church where Mrs. Barbour is counselor of the intermediate girls auxiliary.

Mrs. Barbour is a school room mother and a member of a Parent-Teacher association.

Camping and swimming are activities the Barbour family enjoy together.

Being organized is an important part of running a household, Mrs. Barbour says.

Treasures in the home are a trunk that belonged to her great-grandmother and original tintypes of John and Matilda Easton Parkinson, ancestors of Mrs. Barbour.

Favorite recipes of the Barbour family are:

PEACH CRUMB CAKE

This recipe makes nine servings.

1 box yellow cake mix
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ cup melted butter
2 cups unpeeled, sliced fresh peaches (frozen peaches will do)

Divide dry cake mix in half (about 2 cups dry mix is half of box.) Two loaf-size cake mixes can be used. Prepare half of mix as package directs, using just half the ingredients, water and egg, called for in directions. Measure one cup batter and set aside. Pour rest of batter into greased nine-inch square pan.

Combine remaining half of dry cake mix, cinnamon and nutmeg. Stir in melted butter to make large crumbs.

Sprinkle half of crumb mixture over batter in pan. Arrange peach slices over crumbs in pan. Carefully spoon and spread reserved batter evenly over peaches. Sprinkle with remaining crumbs.

Bake 40 minutes in 350-degree oven.

Mrs. Barbour suggests serving the cake warm with whipped cream, ice cream or plain.

Sour Cream Casserole

1 box noodles Romanoff
1 pound ground beef
½ cup chopped onion
1 can cream of mushroom soup
½ cup milk
Small jar pimiento, chopped
½ teaspoon thyme
Dash pepper
1 cup soft bread crumbs
2 tablespoons melted butter
½ cup shredded sharp cheddar cheese

Prepare the noodles Romanoff according to label directions. Brown meat and onion. Stir in soup, milk, pimiento and seasonings. Add noodle mixture. Place in 10 by 6 by 1½-inch baking dish. Sprinkle with mixture of bread crumbs and butter.

Bake 30 minutes at 350 degrees. Sprinkle with cheese and bake five minutes. Serves six.

Three Cheese Chicken Bake

8 ounces lasagna noodles
1 recipe mushroom sauce
1½ cup cream style cottage cheese
3 cups cooked chicken
2 cups shredded American cheese
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Cook noodles in large amount of boiling salted water. Drain and rinse in cold water. Drain again.

Sauce:

Cook ½ cup each: chopped onion and green pepper in three tablespoons butter. Stir in one cup cream of chicken soup, blended with ½ cup milk, one six-ounce can mushrooms, drained, ¼ cup chopped pimientos and ½ teaspoon basil.

Place half of the noodles in baking dish. Cover with half of mushroom sauce, half cottage cheese, half chicken, half American cheese and half Parmesan cheese. Repeat. End with Parmesan cheese.

Bake 45 minutes at 350 degrees until hot and bubbly.

Frozen Pineapple Dessert

3 eggs
Pinch of Salt
1/8 cup sugar
Vanilla wafers
½ pint whipping cream
1 small can crushed pineapple.

Separate eggs and drain pineapple. Make custard with the three egg yolks, sugar, pineapple juice and salt. Cook over low heat until it coats spoon.

Cool and add crushed pineapple. Beat egg whites until stiff. Whip cream. Fold egg whites into custard mixture. Fold cream in next.

Make crumbs of wafers. Butter two ice trays, bottom and sides and line with wafer crumbs. Make crumbs heavier on bottom.

Peanut Butter Fingers Cream:

½ cup butter

Add:

½ cup sugar and ½ cup firmly packed brown sugar. Cream well.

Blend in:

1 unbeaten egg
1/3 cup peanut butter
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon vanilla

Stir in:

1 cup Pillsbury Best all-purpose flour and 1 cup quick-cooking rolled oats

Spread in greased 13 by 9-inch pan. Bake 20 to 25 minutes at 350 degrees.

Sprinkle with one six-ounce package Nestle's semi-sweet chocolate morsels. Let stand five minutes. The morsels don't lose their shape, but are soft enough to spread.

Combine ½ cup sifted powdered sugar, ¼ cup peanut butter and 2 to 4 tablespoons Pet Milk. Mix well.

Spread chocolate evenly. Drizzle with peanut butter mix. Cool and cut into bars. Makes four dozen.

Mother and 4 Children Killed

RAYMONDVILLE, Mo. (AP) – Five persons are dead as the result of a headon collision of two cars Tuesday on a Texas County road about half a mile east of Raymondville.

Dead are Mrs. Agnes Smith, 29, of Raymondville, and four of her children, Sylvia Irene, 7, Kathryn Dianna, 4, John, 2, and Melissa Ann, 1.

Another daughter, Rosemary, 10, was injured and two other Smith children were in school at the time of the accident.

The driver of the second car, James Wayne Lee Jr., 19, of Raymondville, was in critical condition at Springfield Baptist Hospital. His injuries included fractures of both legs.

Convicted Slayer's Sentencing Delayed

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Superior Court officials said Tuesday that sentencing of Robert Benjamin Smith, convicted of killing four women and a girl, has been postponed until Nov. 8.

Smith, 19, a former Mesa High School honor student, was found guilty of the Nov. 12, 1966, mass slaying last week by a jury which fixed his penalty at death.

The sentencing had been set for Tuesday but was postponed because Smith's attorney, Rod Wood, was ill.

Under state law, the judge must carry out the jurors' decree in pronouncing sentence.

That Charles -- what a pill!! He waltzed in from his fishing jaunt and happily informed me that we were now expecting a new addition to our family in a few months. Well, this was I thought, a rather startling announcement to be making, but if the poor fellow had figured out a way to acomplish this all by himself, then who am I to stand in the way of modern scientific progress? Really, I thought perhaps he'd baked his head a little too long in some of that Florida sun and you know (????)

But, he very quickly made himself clear as to just what this addition was to be when he started describing him (or her, who knows with a fish except maybe another fish), as a beautiful shade of blue, seven foot long, and just plain gorgeous --- wasn't I thrilled? Now, what can I say?

Here, all the "Ways to Hold Your Husband", books insist you must be just as enthused about your husband's little enthusiasms as he is, but I ask you ladies, would the prospect of a seven-foot sailfish, stuffed, and with staring, baleful eye mounted on the wall enthuse you?

I will say one thing it did do, the thought of it excited me -- right to the brink of a nervous breakdown it excited me!!! I quickly decided this was the way Charles had of getting revenge on me for my water colors of sea life I have hanging on the den walls. They've always been a source of unpleasantess at our house since they were painted for me by a once long ago sutor with a beard, (I never have figured out which distressed Charles the most, the fact that this fellow had at one time wooed me, or the fact that he had a big beard & wooed me.

Well, I believe Charles will win out, I can't imagine those paintings giving any competition to that marlin at all -- in fact, I can't imagine anything being able to hold its own with a fish that size. Charles included - he probably bought the dern thing at a fish market.

However, I think we have the solution to our watery problem solved. I assured Charles all of his male friends would want to view and admire, and so we've decided that his office is really the best place for this over-sized sardine.

So, gentlemen, please line up and admire, a whole bevy of you, cause its a cinch I sure don't want Charley the tuna ending back up on a wall at 212 Powers.

You know something though? Out of all this mess one good point emerges for which I can give thanks, and that is, that at least he didn't bring back a mermaid -- stuffed, mounted, or otherwise!!

VIETNAM RESOLUTION -- I have joined 54 other Senators in a sense-of-the Senate resolution seeking a U.S. initiative to bring the question of Vietnam before the United Nations Security Council for consideration.

In January, 1966, on instructions from the President, our Ambassador to the United Nations requested a meeting of the Security Council to consider the situation in Vietnam and submitted a draft resolution. That request and proposal have not been formally considered.

The new sense-of-the-Senate resolution now urges that the U.S. take the initiative to assure that its resolution of January 31, 1966, or any other resolution of equivalent purpose be brought before the Council for consideration.

An initiative by the United Nations in Vietnam would be entirely consistent with the mission of the United Nations, designed as it is to bring parties together in an effort to maintain peace in the world.

The possible failure of the United Nations to resolve the problems of Southeast Asia is not an effective argument against making the effort. If the United Nations does act and interested parties are brought together to discuss the problem, such activity surely could be beneficial in efforts to bring about a peaceful, honorable settlement.

MISSOURI ACADEMY OF SQUIRES -- It was a privilege to attend Governor Hearnes' luncheon in Jefferson City October 27 honoring the ten newly elected members of the Missouri Academy of Squires. It was a particular pleasure to see this fine honor given to my administrative assistant, Stanley R. Fike, for his great interest in the welfare of our state and outstanding service to Missouri journalism as a former newspaperman.

HEARINGS AVAILABLE -- The complete set of hearings of the testimony presented before the Preparedness Investigating Subcommittee of the Senate Armed Services Committee on the Air War Against North Vietnam are now available.

The hearings include testimony from Adm. Ulysses G. Sharp, Commander in Chief, Pacific; Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, Chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff; Lt. Gen. William W. Momyer, USAF Commander 7th Air Force; Gen. John P. McConnell, Chief of Staff, U.S. Air Force; Adm. T. H. Moorer, Chief of Naval Operations; Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara; Gen. Harold K. Johnson, Chief of Staff, U.S. Army; Gen. Wallace M. Greene, Commandant, U.S. Marine Corps; and Maj. Gen. Gilbert L. Meyers, USAF (Ret.). Those interested in obtaining copies of the hearings should contact my office, 229 Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510.

COST OF LIVING -- The annual cost of living at a moderate standard for a family of four (husband 38, wife not employed outside the home, boy 13, and girl 8) averaged $9,189 in the Kansas City Metropolitan area and $9,241 in the St. Louis Metropolitan area in the fall of 1966. These figures compare with $9,191 for the entire United States urban population. This information was recently released in a publication by the Department of Labor, "City Worker's Family Budget."

Drew Pearson Special

DREW PEARSON SAYS:

Gov. Ronald Reagan faces his first acid test; homosexuals discovered in his office; his staff consider themselves certain to serve in White House.

LOS ANGELES -- The most interesting speculation among political leaders in this key state of California is whether the magic charm of Gov. Ronald Reagan can survive the discovery that a homosexual ring has been operating in his office.

Up until this moment Reagan's staff made no secret that they were riding a course certain to take them to Washington. Mrs. Nancy Clark Reynolds, formerly of KPIX, San Francisco, now in charge of Reagan's TV relations, has confided that she expected to be the first woman press secretary ever to serve in the White House. Others on Reagan's staff have been equally confident.

Their confidence is based on the fact that today, twelve months after upsetting two-time Gov. Edmund G. Brown, Reagan could probably be elected by an even larger vote.

He has put across the biggest tax increase in California history and this month the taxpayers are getting an extra bite put on them for the first quarter of next year's tax bill, paid in advance.

He has been petty in some of his personal moves, such as the firing of Miss Maryalice Lemmon, the receptionist who served under two Republican Governors, Earl Warren and Goodwin Knight, plus one Democrat, Pat Brown. When Miss Lemmon got a job in the State Highway Department, Reagan even tracked her down and had her fired from there.

Nevertheless his popularity has continued on the upgrade. His mastery of television has overcome tax increases, pettiness or anything else. He has wowed audiences in Texas, Kansas, and Illinois, has proved the best money-raiser of the Republican National Committee, is in demand everywhere.

REAGAN VS. JOHNSON

The press has treated him with consideration equalled only by their treatment of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. The question is whether he will get the same treatment regarding the homoring.

The case is significant first because Regan was critical when President Johnson was faced with a similar situation in the campaign of 1964 and dropped his assistant after he became involved in a homosexual affair.

Johnson acted immediately. Reagan, on the other hand, waited for about six months.

First reports that members of his staff were engaged in homosexual activities came to the Governor last winter. At that time he had Arthur Van Cort, a former Los Angeles police detective, now in charge of the Governor's security when he travels, investigate. Van Cort of the Governor's security when he travels, investigate. Van Cort came up with a tape recording of a sex orgy which had taken place at a cabin near Lake Tahoe, leased by two members of Reagan's Staff.

Eight men were involved. They included two members of Reagan's staff, one athletic adviser on youth activities who has since gone on leave for the fall athletic season; one man who is managing the mayorality campaign of Harold Dobbs, GOP candidate for mayor of San Francisco; and two sons of a California state senator.

MYSTERIOUS RESIGNATIONS

Reagan, though given this evidence last winter, did not move to clean up his office until last August when certain members of his staff were abruptly dropped. No explanation of the reasons for their departure was given.

This was unusual, because one of the men was probably the closest to Reagan in his entire public life, had given up his Los Angeles law practice and bought a home in Sacramento, with a view to helping pilot Reagan's destiny on to Washington.

The other man had been loaned to Reagan by California Republicans after long experience in GOP California politics. Both men were extremely able and highly qualified professionally.

Although no explanation was given for the shake-up in Reagan's staff at the time it happened, the reasons were given to newsmen on the trip to the Governors' conference in the Virgin Islands aboard the SS Independence.

Newsmen who talked to Lynn Nofziger, communications director for Gov. Reagan, were told quite bluntly that the two aides had been dropped because of homosexual activities.

This belated explanation has aroused political questions. Why was it given at all, when the original policy was no comment. The answer may lie in the carefully conveyed impression that the governor is forthright in dealing with misconduct wherever he finds it.

WHAT KIND OF EXPERTS?

He campaigned on the proposition that while he did not know much about government he would surround himself with experts who did. Two of these experts have now turned out to be involved in conduct which society does not condone. Despite this, they were kept in the Governor's office for approximately six months and reportedly were only dropped when Reagan's right-wing backers demanded that they be fired, not because of their sex behavior, but because they were too moderate for the right wing.

The presence of homos in government was first raised as an issue by a well known Republican, Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, who claimed the state department was riddled with them. Though he was not able to prove his claims, it remains a fact that a homosexual in the defense or state departments is automatically fired as a security risk. He can too easily be blackmailed.

The reason why Reagan's press secretary is now belatedly explaining the facts behind the dropping of his two assistants may well be the desire to show that Ronnie acted quickly -- which he did not do.

It will be very interesting to note what effect the incident has on the Governor's zooming chances to be President of the United States.

$7 Million Increase in Vet Benefits

WASHINGTON -- During the next 12 months, 70,865 Missouri veterans and their dependents, including those of the Vietnam era, are expected to receive increased benefits in the amount of $7,211,340 under the recently enacted Veterans Pension and Readjustment Assistance Act of 1967. These estimates, announced today by Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) and Sen. Edward V. Long (D-Mo), were based on a report made to the Missouri Senators by the Veterans Administration.

A major provision of the new G.I. Bill is a cost of living pension increase. An estimated 54,720 Missourians will receive these benefits which account for $3,083,080 of the total, Senators Symington and Long said.

Approximately 1,455 eligible veterans will receive additional readjustment assistance at a cost of $338,870. Also included will be an increased in educational and training benefits for more than 14,690 eligible Missouri veterans and dependents totaling $3,789,390 in the first year of operation of the new G.I. Bill.

The Missouri legislators pointed out that other pension provisions of the new law, which became effective October 1, will:

Create a new "housebound" rate of $100 a month, in lieu of basic pension rate, for certain veterans under the old pension law.

Establish a new monthly allowance of $50 in addition to pension otherwise payable to widows of veterans of all wars if they are in need of regular aid and attendance.

Presume permanent and total disability of veterans at age 65.

Presume the need of regular aid and attendance for pensioners in nursing homes.

The range of benefits for veterans serving in the Armed Forces during the Vietnam era, beginning on August 5, 1964, which have previously been authorized for veterans of the Korean Conflict, includes:

Disability compensation at wartime rates.

Allowance (not to exceed $1600) for the purchase of an automobile for eligible disabled veterans.

An increase in educational assistance allowances for full-time courses from $100 to $130 a month for a single veteran, $125 to $155 for a veteran with one dependent, $150 to $175 for two dependents, with an additional $10 for each dependent in excess of two. Proportionately smaller allowances will be paid for part-time training.

Full educational assistance allowance for "educationally disadvantaged" veterans so that they can complete high school without reducing their eligibility for advanced educational benefits.

A monthly allowance for on-the-job training for the first six months ranging from $80 a month for a single veteran to $100 a month for a veteran with two or more dependents. The allowances are reduced for succeeding six-month periods.

A monthly allowance for farm cooperative training covering institutional agricultural courses with a minimum of 12 clock hours per week in addition to related work on the farm. Allowances range from $105 a month for a single veteran to $145 a month for a veteran with two or more dependents, plus an additional $7 a month for each additional dependent.

Ninety per cent of the established charge for flight training for veterans with a private license (or the equivalent in flight training hours) who can pass the physical examination for a commercial pilot's license.

An increase from age 23 to 26 in the age limit for children of certain deceased or totally and permanently disabled veterans entitled to war orphans' educational assistance from the Veterans Administration.

Symington and Long said that veterans and their widows and children in Missouri may obtain detailed information on the benefits and services to which they may be entitled under the Veterans Pension and Readjustment Assistance Act of 1967 from any VA office.

COST OF LIVING -- The annual cost of living at a moderate standard for a family of four (husband 38, wife not employed outside the home, boy 13, and girl 8) averaged $9,189 in the Kansas City Metropolitan area and $9,241 in the St. Louis Metropolitan area in the fall of 1966. These figures compare with $9,191 for the entire United States urban population. This information was recently released in a publication by the Department of Labor, "City Worker's Family Budget."

Drew Pearson Special

DREW PEARSON SAYS:

Gov. Ronald Reagan faces his first acid test; homosexuals discovered in his office; his staff consider themselves certain to serve in White House.

LOS ANGELES -- The most interesting speculation among political leaders in this key state of California is whether the magic charm of Gov. Ronald Reagan can survive the discovery that a homosexual ring has been operating in his office.

Up until this moment Reagan's staff made no secret that they were riding a course certain to take them to Washington. Mrs. Nancy Clark Reynolds, formerly of KPIX, San Francisco, now in charge of Reagan's TV relations, has confided that she expected to be the first woman press secretary ever to serve in the White House. Others on Reagan's staff have been equally confident.

Their confidence is based on the fact that today, twelve months after upsetting two-time Gov. Edmund G. Brown, Reagan could probably be elected by an even larger vote.

He has put across the biggest tax increase in California history and this month the taxpayers are getting an extra bite put on them for the first quarter of next year's tax bill, paid in advance.

He has been petty in some of his personal moves, such as the firing of Miss Maryalice Lemmon, the receptionist who served under two Republican Governors, Earl Warren and Goodwin Knight, plus one Democrat, Pat Brown. When Miss Lemmon got a job in the State Highway Department, Reagan even tracked her down and had her fired from there.

Nevertheless his popularity has continued on the upgrade. His mastery of television has overcome tax increases, pettiness or anything else. He has wowed audiences in Texas, Kansas, and Illinois, has proved the best money-raiser of the Republican National Committee, is in demand everywhere.

REAGAN VS. JOHNSON

The press has treated him with consideration equalled only by their treatment of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. The question is whether he will get the same treatment regarding the homoring.

The case is significant first because Regan was critical when President Johnson was faced with a similar situation in the campaign of 1964 and dropped his assistant after he became involved in a homosexual affair.

Johnson acted immediately. Reagan, on the other hand, waited for about six months.

First reports that members of his staff were engaged in homosexual activities came to the Governor last winter. At that time he had Arthur Van Cort, a former Los Angeles police detective, now in charge of the Governor's security when he travels, investigate. Van Cort of the Governor's security when he travels, investigate. Van Cort came up with a tape recording of a sex orgy which had taken place at a cabin near Lake Tahoe, leased by two members of Reagan's Staff.

Eight men were involved. They included two members of Reagan's staff, one athletic adviser on youth activities who has since gone on leave for the fall athletic season; one man who is managing the mayorality campaign of Harold Dobbs, GOP candidate for mayor of San Francisco; and two sons of a California state senator.

MYSTERIOUS RESIGNATIONS

Reagan, though given this evidence last winter, did not move to clean up his office until last August when certain members of his staff were abruptly dropped. No explanation of the reasons for their departure was given.

This was unusual, because one of the men was probably the closest to Reagan in his entire public life, had given up his Los Angeles law practice and bought a home in Sacramento, with a view to helping pilot Reagan's destiny on to Washington.

The other man had been loaned to Reagan by California Republicans after long experience in GOP California politics. Both men were extremely able and highly qualified professionally.

Although no explanation was given for the shake-up in Reagan's staff at the time it happened, the reasons were given to newsmen on the trip to the Governors' conference in the Virgin Islands aboard the SS Independence.

Newsmen who talked to Lynn Nofziger, communications director for Gov. Reagan, were told quite bluntly that the two aides had been dropped because of homosexual activities.

This belated explanation has aroused political questions. Why was it given at all, when the original policy was no comment. The answer may lie in the carefully conveyed impression that the governor is forthright in dealing with misconduct wherever he finds it.

WHAT KIND OF EXPERTS?

He campaigned on the proposition that while he did not know much about government he would surround himself with experts who did. Two of these experts have now turned out to be involved in conduct which society does not condone. Despite this, they were kept in the Governor's office for approximately six months and reportedly were only dropped when Reagan's right-wing backers demanded that they be fired, not because of their sex behavior, but because they were too moderate for the right wing.

The presence of homos in government was first raised as an issue by a well known Republican, Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, who claimed the state department was riddled with them. Though he was not able to prove his claims, it remains a fact that a homosexual in the defense or state departments is automatically fired as a security risk. He can too easily be blackmailed.

The reason why Reagan's press secretary is now belatedly explaining the facts behind the dropping of his two assistants may well be the desire to show that Ronnie acted quickly -- which he did not do.

It will be very interesting to note what effect the incident has on the Governor's zooming chances to be President of the United States.

$7 Million Increase in Vet Benefits

WASHINGTON -- During the next 12 months, 70,865 Missouri veterans and their dependents, including those of the Vietnam era, are expected to receive increased benefits in the amount of $7,211,340 under the recently enacted Veterans Pension and Readjustment Assistance Act of 1967. These estimates, announced today by Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) and Sen. Edward V. Long (D-Mo), were based on a report made to the Missouri Senators by the Veterans Administration.

A major provision of the new G.I. Bill is a cost of living pension increase. An estimated 54,720 Missourians will receive these benefits which account for $3,083,080 of the total, Senators Symington and Long said.

Approximately 1,455 eligible veterans will receive additional readjustment assistance at a cost of $338,870. Also included will be an increased in educational and training benefits for more than 14,690 eligible Missouri veterans and dependents totaling $3,789,390 in the first year of operation of the new G.I. Bill.

The Missouri legislators pointed out that other pension provisions of the new law, which became effective October 1, will:

Create a new "housebound" rate of $100 a month, in lieu of basic pension rate, for certain veterans under the old pension law.

Establish a new monthly allowance of $50 in addition to pension otherwise payable to widows of veterans of all wars if they are in need of regular aid and attendance.

Presume permanent and total disability of veterans at age 65.

Presume the need of regular aid and attendance for pensioners in nursing homes.

The range of benefits for veterans serving in the Armed Forces during the Vietnam era, beginning on August 5, 1964, which have previously been authorized for veterans of the Korean Conflict, includes:

Disability compensation at wartime rates.

Disability pension for veterans and death pension for widows and children.

Allowance (not to exceed $1600) for the purchase of an automobile for eligible disabled veterans.

An increase in educational assistance allowances for full-time courses from $100 to $130 a month for a single veteran, $125 to $155 for a veteran with one dependent, $150 to $175 for two dependents, with an additional $10 for each dependent in excess of two. Proportionately smaller allowances will be paid for part-time training.

Full educational assistance allowance for "educationally disadvantaged" veterans so that they can complete high school without reducing their eligibility for advanced educational benefits.

A monthly allowance for on-the-job training for the first six months ranging from $80 a month for a single veteran to $100 a month for a veteran with two or more dependents. The allowances are reduced for succeeding six-month periods.

A monthly allowance for farm cooperative training covering institutional agricultural courses with a minimum of 12 clock hours per week in addition to related work on the farm. Allowances range from $105 a month for a single veteran to $145 a month for a veteran with two or more dependents, plus an additional $7 a month for each additional dependent.

Ninety per cent of the established charge for flight training for veterans with a private license (or the equivalent in flight training hours) who can pass the physical examination for a commercial pilot's license.

An increase from age 23 to 26 in the age limit for children of certain deceased or totally and permanently disabled veterans entitled to war orphans' educational assistance from the Veterans Administration.

Symington and Long said that veterans and their widows and children in Missouri may obtain detailed information on the benefits and services to which they may be entitled under the Veterans Pension and Readjustment Assistance Act of 1967 from any VA office.

Milk and cream cookery made easy and economical with Milnot . . . recipes for all occasions.

GREEN BEANS ORIENTAL

1 tall (13 oz.) can MILNOT
1 cup (4 ozs.) grated cheddar cheese
1 egg, beaten (optional)
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon celery salt
1 teaspoon instant minced onion (optional)
2 cups drained green beans (#2 can or #303)
1 can (5 ozs.) water chestnuts, drained and sliced
½ cup coarse bread crumbs or chow mein noodles
Paprika for garnish

Add cheese and seasonings to MILNOT and heat until cheese melts. Remove from heat and add beaten egg and water chestnuts. Layer green beans in buttered casserole (1½ to 2 qt.). Pour sauce over beans; sprinkle with crumbs and dust with paprika. Bake at 350°, 25-30 minutes. Serves 6-8.

You'll love cooking with MILNOT. Same rich taste as milk or cream, because it takes almost a quart of milk to make one can of MILNOT! Yet it costs half what you pay for milk.

If cows could... they'd give MILNOT®

'Generation Gap' Novel Is Moving

ALL THE LITTLE LIVE THINGS. By Wallace Stegner. Viking. $5.75.

Joe is an Easterner who has retired to one of those over-developed bedroom communities in California, and has gone into a sort of twilight sleep of non-commitment and disengagement from responsibility.

WALLACE STEGNER

Jim is a classic example of the bearded, unwashed young kooks who devote themselves to motorcycle riding, pot smoking, yoga and yack-yack about freedom (sexual, mostly)—the young punks who sneer at the squareness of their elders.

Jim becomes a squatter and a sponger on the land where Joe and his wife Ruth live, builds a tree-house above his tent (without permission), and gradually turns the site into a pad for his beatnik friends (again, without permission).

This situation gives rise to a complete battle between the generations, with no holds barred. What particularly disturbs Joe is that kooky Jim too often reminds him of his wayward son Curtis, now dead.

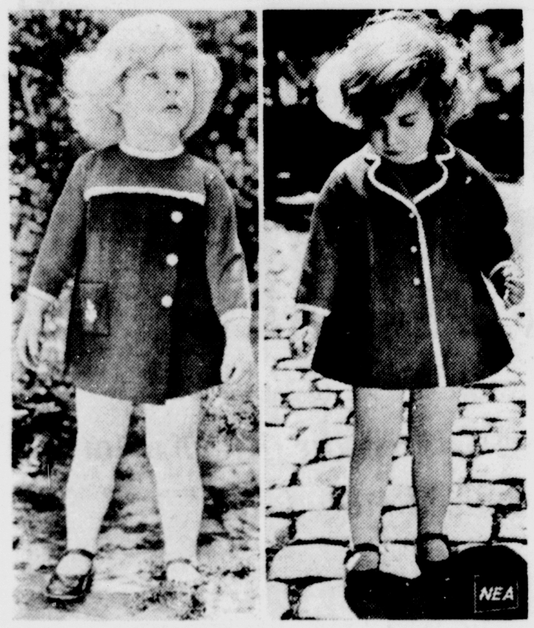

Then there is Marian Catlin, a young housewife with an outgoing, affectionate, yea-saying outlook on life, "a Typhoid Mary of love," who tries to draw Joe out of his shell and defends the younger generation, even being tolerant of Jim. Ironically, there is a tragedy in Marian's life, and it is her tragedy that converts Joe into commitment again.

This is a marvelously written, moving novel, filled with wit and rue, gall and heartbreak, humor and pathos.

Goats vs. Cows

Cows fed on the kind of grass that grows in Italy do not produce much milk; Italy's goats produce an important part of the country's milk supply.

A IS FOR AARDVARK, the creature being held here by Linda Warren of Memphis, Tenn. Found at the zoo in Miami, Fla., it is believed the first aardvark ever born in the Western world, where a view of one is usually limited to the first page of a children's picture book.

As shown in the figures above, taken from a 1967 study by the U.S. Department of Commerce, it still pays to go to school for as long as possible, and it apparently pays to be a man in the working world. The dark bar represents average income for a woman aged 35-44, while the lighter, and consistently longer, bar represents the average income of men in the same age group.

'Generation Gap' Novel Is Moving

ALL THE LITTLE LIVE THINGS. By Wallace Stegner. Viking. $5.75.

Joe is an Easterner who has retired to one of those over-developed bedroom communities in California, and has gone into a sort of twilight sleep of non-commitment and disengagement from responsibility.

WALLACE STEGNER

Jim is a classic example of the bearded, unwashed young kooks who devote themselves to motorcycle riding, pot smoking, yoga and yack-yack about freedom (sexual, mostly)—the young punks who sneer at the squareness of their elders.

Jim becomes a squatter and a sponger on the land where Joe and his wife Ruth live, builds a tree-house above his tent (without permission), and gradually turns the site into a pad for his beatnik friends (again, without permission).

This situation gives rise to a complete battle between the generations, with no holds barred. What particularly disturbs Joe is that kooky Jim too often reminds him of his wayward son Curtis, now dead.

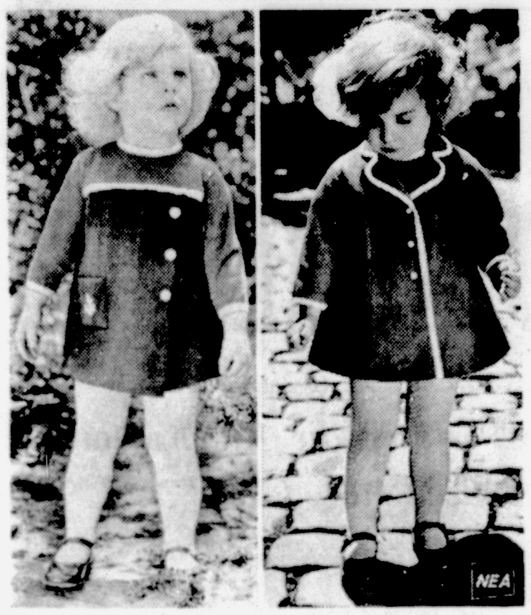

Then there is Marian Catlin, a young housewife with an outgoing, affectionate, yea-saying outlook on life, "a Typhoid Mary of love," who tries to draw Joe out of his shell and defends the younger generation, even being tolerant of Jim. Ironically, there is a tragedy in Marian's life, and it is her tragedy that converts Joe into commitment again.

This is a marvelously written, moving novel, filled with wit and rue, gall and heartbreak, humor and pathos.

Miles A. Smith

Goats vs. Cows

Cows fed on the kind of grass that grows in Italy do not produce much milk; Italy's goats produce an important part of the country's milk supply.

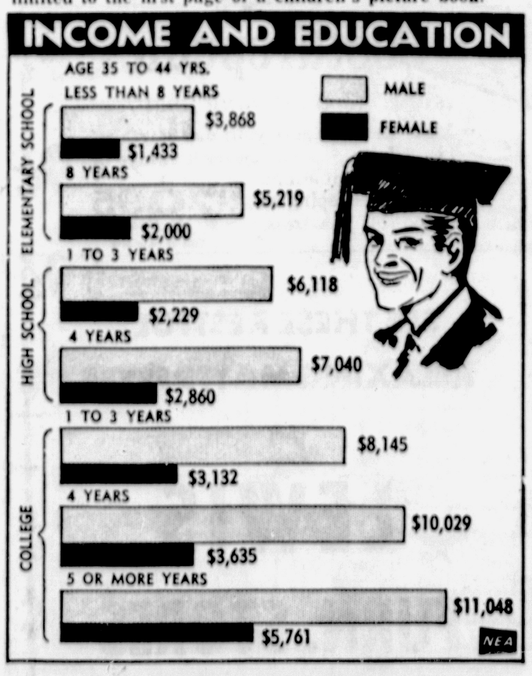

THE FASHIONABLE TODDLER will brighten the fall scene in such new designs as this bonded Orlon and wool A-line dress with high yoke of red and French blue skirt (left) or the bonded Orlon and wool coat and dress ensemble (right) bound in white on lapels, collar and sleeves of coat and on the jewel neckline and sleeves of the dress. These designs are by Nannette.

(NEA Radio-Telephoto)

A IS FOR AARDVARK, the creature being held here by Linda Warren of Memphis, Tenn. Found at the zoo in Miami, Fla., it is believed the first aardvark ever born in the Western world, where a view of one is usually limited to the first page of a children's picture book.

As shown in the figures above, taken from a 1967 study by the U.S. Department of Commerce, it still pays to go to school for as long as possible, and it apparently pays to be a man in the working world. The dark bar represents average income for a woman aged 35-44, while the lighter, and consistently longer, bar represents the average income of men in the same age group.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE

For default in the payment of interest and principal now due as provided by the note secured by the Deed of Trust, executed by James R. Nodine and Minnie Nodine, his wife, dated March 2, 1967, recorded in Book 154 at Page 231, in the Office of the Recorder of Deeds of Scott County, Missouri, at Benton, conveying to T. E. Ann Landers

Cesarean Requires Medical Reason

Dear Ann Landers: My wife is 22, in excellent health and is expecting our first child in about six months. Everything was fine until her mother began to scare her to death with stories about labor. She told my wife that her own labor was so excruciating that she lost her voice for two days because she screamed so much. She also told her she had bitten her lips so hard that the cuts didn't heal for three weeks.

Last night my mother-in-law talked my wife into having a cesarean instead of a natural birth. My own mother says my mother-in-law is crazy and that she should stop filling my wife's head with rubbish. My wife says if she can escape the agonies of labor by having a cesarean, why not? I don't know what to say. -- EXPECTANT FATHER

Dear Ex: A cesarean is a major operation and no obstetrician will perform it unless there is a medical reason. Merely to escape labor is not a medical reason.

Mother-in-law is a generation or two behind the times. Ask your wife's doctor to tell her about the help that will be available during labor. She needs reassurance, not horror stories.

Dear Ann Landers: Two years ago, when I was 12, I wrote you a letter and asked how to be popular. I felt like the ugliest and dumbest person in the whole world. When I received your answer I was really mad at you. Your reply was so cornball that I wanted to write again and ask you to send me a nickel because I felt I had wasted the stamp.

Two weeks later I found your letter stuck in a book. (I thought I had thrown it out.) I read it again. You wrote, "The way to have a friend is to BE one. If you want to be interesting to others you must be INTERESTED in others --- and show it." Suddenly I wasn't mad any more. It made sense. I decided to try it.

I forced myself to smile and speak to people I had ignored for years. I discovered a lot of nifty kids all over the place. I thought, "Gee, they have changed." But I came to realize that I was the one who had changed. Pretty soon I wasn't thinking about my ugliness and my dumbness any more. I was thinking about how neat it was to be friendly. After a while I didn't feel ugly or dumb anymore.

So now, I am writing to say "thank you" and to ask you to print my letter. If it worked for me it can work for others. When I get a few dollars ahead I am going to send you a nice gift to show my appreciation. You changed my life. -- THE NEW ME

Dear New You: Your letter was a beautiful expression of appreciation and I am grateful. As for a gift --- I never discourage giving because I know that giving does as much for the giver as for the receiver. So, if you want to do something nice for me, put a couple of collars in an envelope and send it to your local Heart Fund.

Confidential to Too Much Me: A diet may solve part of the problem but don't expect miracles. Bone structure is sometimes a factor.

Do you feel ill at ease. . .out of it? Is everybody having a good time but you? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Prayer

From the Upper Room

Caleb stilled the people before Moses, and said, Let us go up at once, and possess it; for we are well able to overcome it. (Numbers 13:30)

PRAYER: O God, we pray that we may express our faith in Thee by loyalty to convictions founded upon Thine eternal truth. In the name of our Lord and Master we pray. Amen.

More Holiday Mail To Travel by Air

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office Department will take to the air more than ever before to carry first-class mail during the Christmas rush.

If it will get around traffic bottlenecks or avoid weather-caused delays in surface transportation, air transport may be used even on hops of less than 300 miles, the department told its transportation directors Tuesday.

Christmas cards will get the special treatment only if they carry a five-cent stamp.

If You Were the Judge

Taking Person's Bite Held Constitutional

By Jack Strauss, L.L.D.

When Otto opened his delicatessen store one morning, he found that he had been victimized by a burglar who had gone to work on an empty stomach. For not only did the burglar rifle his safe, but the scraps left behind indicated that he nibbled as he worked. As an example, Otto found teeth marks in a chunk of very expensive cheese.

Consequently, when Mousey was subsequently arrested as the suspected burglar, he was offered a piece of cheese to eat by one of the investigating officers. After taking only one bite, however, the piece of cheese was snatched away from him and rushed to a laboratory where a comparison was made between the teeth marks made by Mousey and those left behind in Otto's piece of cheese.

"There's no doubt about it," an expert later testified at Mousey's trial. "The comparison clearly showed the Mousey was the one who nibbled on Otto's cheese."

"I object," protested Mousey's lawyer in turn. "The teeth marks can't be used as evidence against my client. He should have been warned that his biting into the cheese at the station house might be used as evidence against him. He was, in effect, tricked into testifying against himself and that's unconstitutional."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit the cheese to be used as evidence against Mousey?

This is how the judge ruled: Yes! The judge held that Mousey's bite into the cheese was basically no different than taking a person's fingerprints which violates no constitutional right.

The Prayer

From the Upper Room

Caleb stilled the people before Moses, and said, Let us go up at once, and possess it; for we are well able to overcome it. (Numbers 13:30)

PRAYER: O God, we pray that we may express our faith in Thee by loyalty to convictions founded upon Thine eternal truth. In the name of our Lord and Master we pray. Amen.

More Holiday Mail To Travel by Air

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office Department will take to the air more than ever before to carry first-class mail during the Christmas rush.

If it will get around traffic bottlenecks or avoid weather-caused delays in surface transportation, air transport may be used even on hops of less than 300 miles, the department told its transportation directors Tuesday.

Christmas cards will get the special treatment only if they carry a five-cent stamp.

Oysters

Oysters receive food and oxygen by pumping water through their gills at an average rate of 15 quarts per hour during the warm season. Some of the larger species are reported to pump as much as 37 quarts an hour, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

If You Were the Judge

Taking Person's Bite Held Constitutional

By Jack Strauss, L.L.D.

When Otto opened his delicatessen store one morning, he found that he had been victimized by a burglar who had gone to work on an empty stomach. For not only did the burglar rifle his safe, but the scraps left behind indicated that he nibbled as he worked. As an example, Otto found teeth marks in a chunk of very expensive cheese.

Consequently, when Mousey was subsequently arrested as the suspected burglar, he was offered a piece of cheese to eat by one of the investigating officers. After taking only one bite, however, the piece of cheese was snatched away from him and rushed to a laboratory where a comparison was made between the teeth marks made by Mousey and those left behind in Otto's piece of cheese.

"There's no doubt about it," an expert later testified at Mousey's trial. "The comparison clearly showed the Mousey was the one who nibbled on Otto's cheese."

"I object," protested Mousey's lawyer in turn. "The teeth marks can't be used as evidence against my client. He should have been warned that his biting into the cheese at the station house might be used as evidence against him. He was, in effect, tricked into testifying against himself and that's unconstitutional."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit the cheese to be used as evidence against Mousey?

This is how the judge ruled: Yes! The judge held that Mousey's bite into the cheese was basically no different than taking a person's fingerprints which violates no constitutional right.

Today is Wednesday, Nov. 1, the 305th day of 1967. There are 60 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1952, the United States exploded the first hydrogen bomb at Eniwetok in the Marshall Islands.

On this date:

In 1765, some American colonists defied their royal governors as the British Stamp Act went into effect.

In 1788, the Continental Congress, which first met in 1774, was declared adjourned.

In 1858, Britain's Queen Victoria was proclaimed sovereign throughout India.

In 1864, the U.S. postal money order system went into operation.

In 1948, most political commentators predicted that Thomas E. Dewey would win a landslide victory over President Harry S. Truman in elections the next day.

In 1963, a military coup in Saigon resulted in the downfall of the South Vietnam government and the murder of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

Ten years ago: At least 10,000 sheep perished in a brush fire that swept 400 square miles in southern Australia.

Five years ago: Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro rejected any form of international inspection to determine whether Soviet missiles were removed.

One year ago: Ten firefighters were killed during a battle against brush fires in Angeles National Forest in California.

Missouri Poll

TV Ads Irritate Missourians

Television advertising creates a strange paradox in the daily life of most Americans. We all complain about it. We argue that it takes up too much viewing time. We contend that it is pitched at the lowest common denominator of intelligence. But we still find it fascinating. We spend more time watching TV advertisements than we are willing to admit.

Television critics have written about the same paradox in their newspaper columns. Program ratings indicate that audiences are straying away from the second half of the movies shown on television -- today's most popular shows. These lowered ratings, they argue, are the result of too many commercials and they are working seriously to increase the effectiveness of their messages. The TV critics have pointed out that viewers are seeing many new types of commercials and that these are becoming increasingly expensive to create. But, sponsors think it is worth the effort.

As one aspect of a 1966 study of advertising ranging from highway billboards to television to personal contact, the Public Opinion survey unit of the University of Missouri asked its statewise sample of nearly 1000 adults a series of questions about television commercials. One question presented five statements about TV commercials, and asked respondents which statement was closest to their own feelings. The results are indicate in table 1.

People complain not only about ads but also about the programs. When POSU turned to the question of priorities in improving commercials or program content, the sample answered this way:

TABLE I
Missourians' Feelings About TV Commercials

Statement	%
I enjoy TV commercials	7
I like many more than I dislike	15
Neutral feelings	40
I dislike many more than I like	23
TV commercials are disgusting	15

While this shows that 22 per cent of adult Missourians like the content of commercials and 38 per cent dislike them, the sample voiced stronger negative reactions when asked about the amount of time devoted to these "words from our sponsors." Fifty-seven percent of the sample felt that too much time is spent on commercials while only 5 per cent sayd they would be willing to see more TV ads. The remainder of the sample felt that advertising time now was just about right.

When we look more closely at these two questions, we find some interesting things. While more men and women dislike ads than like them, among those who like ads, the women outnumber the men. Those who like commercials also are those in the sample who watch television many more hours each week. Those who watch television less tend to be more critical of ad content. Yet, while women admit that advertising influences them and while they like the content of ads more than men do, women are more likely than men to feel that too much time is devoted to it.

POSU also tried to measure how strongly Missourians disliked television commercials by asking them how much they would be willing to pay to eliminate commercials. Only 12 percent of the people said they were willing to pay, however, men outnumbered women 2 to 1.

People complain not only about ads but also about the programs. When POSU turned to the question of priorities in improving commercials or program content, the sample answered this way:

TABLE II
Priorities in TV Improvement

Statement	%
Improve program content first	48
Improve commercial content first	17
Improve both	21
Don't know	14

It appears that people are more concerned with improving program content, 69 percent having indicated that a need exists. Thirty-eight percent of the sample felt that commercials needed to be improved, but it must be noted that the call for program improvement was twice as great. Apparently a concern for public standards underlies the expressed need for program improvement. It was significantly higher among those who attended church regularly when compared with those who never or seldom attend.

The concern for improvements in the content of commercials is reflected in the answers to questions about government regulation of television. The sample rejected government control of the length of commercials by 2 to 1, but less than 1 in 5 felt that the content of commercials should be beyond the government's control. Twenty-six percent approved of the government's control of obviously dirty or immoral commercials and 44 per cent felt that the government should keep commercials within the bounds of "good taste." Only six percent of the sample felt that the low quality of commercials called for strict regulations. As we saw earlier, those who attend church regularly were more concerned than non-church goers and were more willing to have the government keep the commercials within the limits of "good taste."

Often concern is voiced in the press and elsewhere regarding the effects of television on our children.

MONSTER BROWNIE is actually the most sensitive and precise tracking instrument in the North American Air Defense Command's satellite detection network. The huge Baker-Nunn camera, located at Cold Lake, Alberta, and operated by the Canadian Armed Forces Air Defense Command, can photograph light reflected from an object the size of a basketball at a distance of 25,000 miles. By correlating the photos with known star backgrounds, a satellite's position can be determined with great precision.

Market Character Altered by Mutuals

NEW YORK (AP) — A concentration of power among mammoth and growing institutions such as mutual funds is now tending to accentuate stock price changes in a manner reminiscent of the outlawed pools of the 1930s.

This concentrated buying and selling, which is entirely legal, has fundamentally changed the character of the stock market, an Associated Press study has found.

Federal officials, though deeply concerned, seem to be stymied by a lack of funds and outdated regulations in their investigations of this concentration.

Nevertheless, the shift from a marketplace of random public orders to one more nearly dominated by sheer power appears to account for much of the wide, wild and sometimes destructive price swings and heavy volume of today's market, the study suggests.

Amidst this heavy volume, the very definition of the word "investment" as contrasted to "speculation" has become obscured by mutual funds which buy and sell stocks within weeks in their quest for "performance."

Illustrating the changed conditions are these facts:

1. Mutual funds now control 20 to 30 per cent of the shares of many large corporations, and one-third the value of all shares on the New York Stock Exchange is owned by mutual and pension funds, insurance companies, endowments and bank-administered trusts.

2. More blocks of 10,000 shares or more, indicating institutional buying and selling, have crossed the New York Stock Exchange ticker tape this year than in all 1966. In September alone there were more than 570.

3. Mutual funds are turning over their portfolios at the rate of 40 per cent a year. Several performance funds have rates much higher than this— as much as 100 per cent and more a year.

This institutional speculation, William McChesney Martin told the 175th anniversary celebration of the New York Stock Exchange this year, not only is poisonous but could end disastrously.

Martin, Federal Reserve Board chairman and a former exchange president, suggested that "this cult of short-run market performance" compares in some ways to the outlawed pools, in which traders created activity to attract buying and push up prices.

"Anyone who invests must realize it is a different business than it was 15 years ago," said Ted Lyman, senior vice president of Putnam Management Co., which administers several large funds.

Lyman refers to individual investors— those who purchase stocks directly rather than through mutual funds— as "do-it-yourself investors."

The stock exchanges have courted both individuals and funds. Individual stock ownership has grown from about 6.5 million or less in 1952, the first year a stockholder census was taken, to more than 22 million now.

Institutions have grown even faster. Since 1945 their assets have risen from $88.6 billion to more than $565 billion. In this time, mutual funds have multiplied their assets, mostly in stocks, 100 times to $40 billion.

Despite these developments, the Securities and Exchange Commission is thwarted to some extent by the lack of an over-all study of the effect on prices of this concentration.

"We're not equipped to do it budgetwise," said Mahlon Frankhauser, SEC regional administrator at New York. "Nobody is doing an over-all study." But some of the effects seem to be apparent without a study.

In a few hours last Nov. 18 more than 562,000 shares of Fairchild Camera and Instrument Co., were sold, about 20 per cent of all its shares, and the price plunged more than $19 to $106.75.

Was it possible that for no immediately obvious reason thousands of shareholders all decided to sell at once? Or, more likely, was this an effect of concentrated power?

Institutions such as mutual funds, which pool the investment power of 4 million individuals, were heavily involved in Fairchild. When they decided to sell their holdings their action had the impact of millions of decisions.

A day before this extraordinary selling, a meeting was held at Argus Research, a highly regarded wholesaler of investment information to brokers and analysts.

An Argus spokesman explained later that perhaps 75 of these influential clients heard an analyst give a short discourse on integrated circuits, with the emphasis on possible difficulties ahead for Fairchild.

Selling in Fairchild, as well as in other makers of integrated circuits, began the next day. Long term investors, many of them small, read about their losses the following day.

Some mutual funds concede their trading might have a sharp impact on prices, but they insist a Fairchild affair is a rarity. They claim the funds most often feed out their sales a bit at a time to lessen the impact.

Francis Williams, chairman of the Investment Company Institute, a mutual fund trade association, says: "We don't think the activities of the mutual funds and other institutional investors have a substantial impact on the market. It certainly would take a study to prove otherwise."

But the Federal Reserve's Martin said in a speech that in-out trading by institutions tends to create undersirably volatile price fluctuations. "I find this trend disquieting," he said.

The performance trend of in-out trading has now spread through much of the mutual fund industry and is influencing other institutions also. As a result, concentration, activity and volatility may become even more pronounced.

Congressman's Office Keeps Train inSchedule

WASHINGTON (AP) — The stone floor started to shake and the sound of the 2:06 rumbled through the congressman's office.

"It's running a little late today," said Haila Harvey, the receptionist.

Trains are frequent underground intruders in the office of Rep. Graham Purcell, D.Tex. They go rattling below as often as seven minutes apart.

"People come to us to find out if the trains are on time," said office aide Marion Brickell, who possibly was exaggerating.

Purcell's new quarters in a corner of the Cannon House Office Building sit atop an old railroad tunnel built at the turn of the century. Passenger trains coming into nearby Union Station still use the tunnel beneath Capitol Hill.

The congressman's staff has started its own timetable. It lists 17 trains from the 8:25 in the morning to the 6:35 at night.

"We got into an argument the second day when they were rumbling through and I said there must be at least six," Mrs. Brickell said. "They all hollered, 'Six! Why, there were six before lunch!' "

The trains have been chugging beneath the building for 61 years but Purcell just moved into the corner office on the ground floor this month as part of a congressional shuffle due to a remodeling project.

The tunnel, 10 feet beneath the building's foundation, cuts across only the one corner where Purcell's office is. The underground passage was built in 1906 at the same time the office building was being constructed.

The late House speaker, Joseph G. Cannon, sat on the commission overseeing construction of the building that half a century later was named after him. Cannon quizzed a Pennsylvania Railroad engineer about the wisdom of having the tunnel so close to the foundation.

"I could put a 10-story house on that," said William H. Brown, the railroad's chief engineer.

"And not shake it?" asked Cannon.

"Not shake it," promised Brown.

Mrs. Brickell disagrees.

"I want you to know I was up in the fifth floor storeroom this morning and heard the 9:37 go rattling through," she said.

Computer Matches Roommates

NEW YORK (AP) — There's a computer in Manhattan that spends part of its time matching up people to share apartments.

It has a colleague that spends part of its working week turning out 10,008-word horoscopes for the astrologically minded.

Either service costs $15.

The first is offered by Bradshaw Realty, an apartment rental and management firm. The second by TBS Computer Centers Corp. and Time Pattern Research Institute, Inc.

They're among the latest jobs assigned to computers which not too long ago started out as adding machines and now can play chess, create pictures, match boys and girls for dates and help a person find a job.

Using a computer to help select the proper roommate is the idea of Herb Riddick, general manager of Bradshaw.

Riddick believes that "next to marriage, getting a proper roommate is one of the most important partnerships a person can enter into. Being misroomated is almost as bad as being mismated."

Applicants can be either those who are looking for an apartment and want to share it, or those who have an apartment and want a roommate.

The application contains a 25-question "personality appraisal form" developed by a psychologist.

"The questions try to measure types of intensity," Riddick says. "If one person agrees strongly with something and another disagrees strongly with the same thing then, all things being equal, the odds are that they won't be good roommates. By and large similar people make the best roommates."

Astrology, predicting the future by charting the fancied effect of stars on human events, is at least 5,000 years old. Murray Lee, president of TBS, estimates there are 5 million devotees of the subject in the United States. Another 40 million dabble in it, usually by reading their horoscope in the daily newspaper, he says.

Lee says it used to take as much as a week to cast a personal horoscope at a cost of up to $500.

The computer can do the same thing in less than a minute and for $15, Lee says.

MONSTER BROWNIE is actually the most sensitive and precise tracking instrument in the North American Air Defense Command's satellite detection network. The huge Baker-Nunn camera, located at Cold Lake, Alberta, and operated by the Canadian Armed Forces Air Defense Command, can photograph light reflected from an object the size of a basketball at a distance of 25,000 miles. By correlating the photos with known star backgrounds, a satellite's position can be determined with great precision.

Market Character Altered by Mutuals

NEW YORK (AP) — A concentration of power among mammoth and growing institutions such as mutual funds is now tending to accentuate stock price changes in a manner reminiscent of the outlawed pools of the 1930s.

This concentrated buying and selling, which is entirely legal, has fundamentally changed the character of the stock market, an Associated Press study has found.

Federal officials, though deeply concerned, seem to be stymied by a lack of funds and outdated regulations in their investigations of this concentration.

MRS. ANNIE M. (KIMBALL) LaMASTUS, of New Madrid, owns the first mechanical sewing machine. The machine was hand built by her grandfather, James Kimball, before 1846 in New Madrid.

First Sewing Machine Built in New Madrid

NEW MADRID -- The first mechanical sewing machine ever built was made in New Madrid before 1846 by James Kimball, according to information obtained from descendents of the machanic - inventor and the idea for the machine was used by Elias Howe, who is generally credited with being the inventor of the sewing machine.

The following story was written about 25 years ago by the late Atty. Merrill Spitler when he became interested in the machine's history:

Nearly a hundred years ago the first sewing machine was perfected in the Mississippi River town of New Madrid by its mechanic - inventor, James Kimball, according to old residents, and Weston Dawson, Gus Richards, Mrs. L. A. Lewis, Lige Morrison and others who range in age from 82 to 90 years.

They recall vividly the indignation over the patent issued to Howe, and tell of the trips made to Washington by Senator Bill Moseley, Wash Howard and James Kimball and how Kimball, after asking only for peace, refused to bring suit.

The first machine ever made is now owned by Mrs. Annie M. (Kimball) LaMastus, and it is kept at the home where it is inspected by the curious, who often attempt to buy it. In perfect preservation, it sews today as well as any machine ever built, and the workmanship of rugged race makes it a thing of beauty not possessed by modern machine. It uses a straight needle above, and a curved needle below, is fed from spools, uses a force treadle feed.

It is said that Kimball made only three of the machines, one of which is said to have gone west in the gold rush of '49, another has gone from view, and the original has descended to the present owner, as evidenced by old Bible records.

The Kimball family came to New Madrid when it was under the ownership of Spain, before the old "Del Rio" was built. Always blacksmiths and mechanics, they have not accumulated any wealth and even today the descendents are mechanical geniuses who do not use their talents except in a small way for nominal consideration.

It is told that James Kimball, in the early 1830's built a steam tractor which he drove around the countryside until its copper boiler blew up. He was an expert gunsmith, a calling followed by his descendents. In the days when the steamboat on the river was the only mode of transportation, and supplies and repairs impossible to obtain, James Kimball never failed to repair the grist - mills, cotton gins, sawmills and other necessary machinery with his home-made lathe, files, and tools in the crude blacksmith shop. With the true love of a mechanic he sought neither great renumeration nor fame, but performed the miracles in his own country.

The sewing machine was only an incident in his life. Once made, he turned his talents to other things.

Tradition is that Howe stopped off at New Madrid from a boat while it was tied up on the river, and hearing of the sewing machine contacted Kimball, who exhibited it at his home. Years afterwards, the news came back that Howe had patented a machine.

The machine is mute evidence so convincing that to see is to know; it is far advanced when compared to the crude machine first made by Howe, and differs from it so radically in design and workmanship that there can be no doubt that it is the authentic first invention.

It is perhaps well that Howe applied the principals he observed and patented it for the world to use, for Kimball had no thought of gain or of money, but only of making things; and it might have been many years longer before the machine would have been given to the world.

Yet the fact remains that the world does not know, and no credit has been given to the genius that perfected the first practical sewing machine.

New GM Boss Developed Auto Interest Early

DETROIT (AP) — Back in 1914, 5-year-old Ed Cole climbed into a 1908 Buick on his father's farm in Marne, Mich., released the handbrake and sent the car rolling into a tree.

The damage was slight, and the scolding the curious kid got didn't dampen his enthusiasm for the horseless carriage.

Now, 53 years later, Edward Nicholas Cole is president of the General Motors Corp.

Cole's election climaxed a GM career that began in 1929 when he enrolled in the General Motors Institute at Flint, Mich., under sponsorship of the corporation's Cadillac division. The job into which he steps paid James M. Roche, the new chairman, $730,000 in salary and bonuses last year.

Like Roche before him, Cole carries no college diploma into the president's office. Roche's education came via correspondence courses. Cole's ended at General Motors Institute when Cadillac called him out before graduation and assigned him to a special engineering project.

Known as an engineering genius, Cole personally was responsible for the basic design concept of the Chevrolet Corvair, a lightweight, rear-engine car.

He is genial and articulate and is known about the GM building in Detroit as a man who has a cheery "hello" for everyone, including the elevator operators and the cleaning crews that dust up at night.

A vice president since 1956, when he was named general manager of the Chevrolet division, Cole had been an executive vice president since 1965 with jurisdiction over all the general staff activities of the corporation.

Cole spent his boyhood on his father's farm, milking cows and delivering milk before school. While still in his teens, he sold tractors during summer vacations by driving them around the countryside and giving on-the-spot demonstrations.

It was the ambition of his parents that he became a lawyer and he entered Junior College.

Student Patriot Hopes Effort Will Spread

WAKEFIELD, Mass. (AP) — A 19-year-old high school student who organized a patriotic rally that drew a police estimated 25,000 persons to the town common says he hopes it will touch off nationwide public demonstrations in support of American servicemen.

"I hope this will spark a tidal wave of enthusiasm across the nation," Paul F. Christopher Jr., said Sunday after serving as master of ceremonies for a 75-minute program of prayers and speeches.

Flag-waving youths, including grammar school youngsters and members of three motorcycle gangs, interrupted the speakers with boisterous cheers and chanting of patriotic slogans.

Although Police Chief J. Merrit Wenzel's estimate of a 25,000 turnout was about one-fourth what Christopher had said he hoped for, the Wakefield High School senior termed the rally "a complete success" when he met with newsmen.

He said the rally was held as a gesture of support for American servicemen in Vietnam and not to take sides on "whether or not we should be in Vietnam."

Christopher said he decided to organize the demonstration after becoming "burned up" at an anti-Vietnam protest in downtown Boston Oct. 16 when about 200 youths either burned what they claimed were their draft cards or turned the documents over to clergymen.

Wakefield, a town of about 25,000 residents, is located about eight miles north of Boston.

Gov. John A. Volpe told the crowds at Christopher's rally, "Patriotism is said by some people to be old-fashioned now. But it never should be out of fashion. It can stand revival. Let's make it fashionable together."

Christopher dropped out of high school to run a sandwich shop he still operates, but later returned to school and says he plans to enlist in the Army after graduation.

Chinese Hippies More Militant

HONG KONG (AP) — Militant Communist China has its own hippies, but with a difference.

Many of the Red Guards, Chinese arrivals from Red China report, have lost their revolutionary zeal after more than a year of drifting around the country. They can be seen in various parts of the country with young boys hugging scantily dressed girls at railway stations, in parks and other public places.

The arrivals say Communist authorities forbid people to take pictures of the hippie-like Red Guards.

One Chinese seaman who stayed in China for more than two months said "All Chinese hippie-lands are strictly off limits to foreign visitors."

While the American hippies advocate love and nonviolence, the Chinese ones are known for their militancy. And they steal food and loot, according to the travelers.

Clashes between rival Red Guard gangs in China have been reported frequently.

Recently the Communist authorities ordered all Red Guards to return to their schools, which were closed in the summer of 1966. But, the arrivals say, in many schools neither teachers nor students turned up.

"The teachers are afraid of vengeful action from students, while the students, after more than a year of free traveling and comparatively easy life, are reluctant to go back to schools where some kind of discipline must be kept," one source said.

He said many Chinese hippies have no homes to go back to because "many parents were liquidated during the current power struggle in China."

Birthplace of Tibet's Dalai Lama was a village in Tsinghai Province in northwestern China, next door to Tibet. He was four years old when he became the 14th reincarnation of the Dalai Lama.

Explosive Power of Gasoline Demonstrated

Gasoline is dangerous because in an inrenerator, the average person is unaware of its ignition point, William D. Foreman, Benton, field representative in Scott and Mississippi counties for the burn injury prevention program of the Missouri division of health.

"A man may smoke a cigarette while his gasoline tank is being filled many times without engaging himself only to be caught in explosive flames when he accidentally spills gasoline on a hot motor," he told the Rotary club at the Rustic Rock.

He warned men to be careful when working with gasoline and propane and urged women to be careful with hot grease because frequent use may dull the senses, making them careless.

Foreman produced an audible explosion with one drop of gasoline mixed with oxygen and set off by a spark. Assisting him with fire hazard demonstrations, including one on gasoline fumes, was Moody Summitt, Poplar Bluff, field coordinator of the burn injury prevention program.

He urged that directions be read on cans containing chemical preparations, demonstrated how a hair spray and insecticide could become a blow torch if exposed to open flame and warned that aerosol cans send fragments into the air if exploding when burned.

Actors Leave Their Own Legacies

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actors bequeath books and bricklayers their handiwork, but screen actors are uniquely privileged: they leave themselves.

Immortalized on film and sound track, they remain after death as real and vibrant to their public as when they trod the movie stages. And death has no sting at all at the box office — except as a stimulant in rare instances where cult followings develop.

About 900 students paid their way into UCLA's Royce Hall a few evenings ago to applaud two movies a combined 38 years old, featuring six actors now dead.

The hip collegians laughed at a now camp touch in 1953's "Shane"— a mongrel slinking away to intercourse a gunfighter's villainy. But they clearly relished two of the greatest fight sequences ever filmed as the heroics of Alan Ladd, clean-looking, deep-voiced and laconic in fringed buckskins as he drove the bad guys from the settlers' valley.

"Casablanca" has been on television countless times and like "Shane" seemed tiny in its old 3-by-4 format on the wide screen. But the students applauded Humphrey Bogart when he stepped, sardonic and heroical. The 1943 film also had suave Claude Rains, sinister Sydney Greenstreet, ally Peter Lorre and excitable S. Z. Sakall— all, like Bogie, now gone but seemingly as alive as ever.

A more spectacular example of deceased actors' immortality at the box office is "Gone With the Wind," which MGM is releasing for the sixth time after a take of $40 million on previous rounds. Now it's in wide-screen format and six-track sound.

Of its stars, only Olivia de Havilland is still alive. Clark Gable, Vivian Leigh and Leslie Howard are gone, but a studio spokesman says: "Their passing doesn't seem to have one whit of effect. It's bigger than anything we've had in years."

Studios generally avoid releasing a film too soon after the star's death for fear of seeming to commercialize.

Turning Point In Lake Shipping May Be Near

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. Steel's decision to order "the largest and most modern vessel ever built for service on the Great Lakes" may mark a turning point for a lake shipping industry that has been listing badly.

Although the states bordering the lakes have nearly one-half theunation's manufacturing capacity, the lake ships haven't been carrying their share of it. Earnings have been falling, ships are old, and some attitudes have not been the kind that solve problems.

No American ship has been built for the Great Lakes trade since 1960. The number of freighters has, in fact, dimished by two since a quarter. Two-thirds of fleet capacity is at least 20 years old; 50 per cent of the U.S. fleet was built before 1937. Problems, it seems, have been the biggest cargo. Despite the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway, overseas trade of the big lake ports has been retarded by what shippers refer to as "predatory" rail charges to the docks.

Canada has helped subsidize its lake fleet, and 50 modern Canadian ships now ply the lake routes. This has largely pushed U.S. ships out of the U.S.-Canada service.

Couple Wants to Try Living Like Robinson Crusoe

PAGO PAGO, Samoa (AP)— "We're not beatniks or hippies," says Los Angeles ouddoorsman Bruce Johnson, who's seeking an uninhabited South Sea island on which he and Shari Quam can live like Robinson Crusoe.

"We're just trying to do something real, something meaningful to us," said Johnson, 42, during a weekend stopover at Tutuila, the main island of American Samoa.

"I just want to revert back to nature on islands like the ones I was on during the war. I want to gather my own food, make my own home and in general live like Robinson Crusoe," he said.

He and Miss Quam, 22, planned to fly to Fiji to check out islands on which they might settle.

"We're definitely not decided on any island yet," he continued. "But it must be uninhabited so we can live just as our ancestors did thousands of years ago."

They're taking along only bare essentials for their stay— a minimum of clothing but lots of film to record their adventures.

MRS. ANNIE M. (KIMBALL) LaMASTUS, of New Madrid, owns the first mechanical sewing machine. The machine was hand built by her grandfather, James Kimball, before 1846 in New Madrid.

First Sewing Machine Built in New Madrid

NEW MADRID -- The first mechanical sewing machine ever built was made in New Madrid before 1846 by James Kimball, according to information obtained from descendents of the mechanic - inventor and the idea for the machine was used by Elias Howe, who is generally credited with being the inventor of the sewing machine.

The following story was written about 25 years ago by the late Atty. Merrill Spitler when he became interested in the machine's history:

Nearly a hundred years ago the first sewing machine was perfected in the Mississippi River town of New Madrid by its mechanic - inventor, James Kimball, according to old residents. Weston Dawson, Gus Richards, Mrs. L. A. Lewis, Lige Morrison and others who range in age from 82 to 90 years.

They recall vividly the indignation over the patent issued to Howe, and tell of the trips made to Washington by Senator Bill Moseley, Wash Howard and James Kimball and how Kimball, asking only for peace, refused to bring suit.

The first machine ever made is now owned by Mrs. Annie M. (Kimball) LaMastus, and it is kept at the home where it is inspected by the curious, who often attempt to buy it. In perfect preservation, it sews today as well as any machine ever built, and the workmanship of rugged race makes it a thing of beauty not possessed by modern machine. It uses a straight needle above, and a curved needle below, is fed from spools, uses a force treadle feed.

It is said that Kimball made only three of the machines, one of which is said to have gone west in the gold rush of '49, another has gone from view, and the original has descended to the present owner, as evidenced by old Bible records.

The Kimball family came to New Madrid when it was under the ownership of Spain, before the old "Del Rio" was built. Always blacksmiths and mechanics, they have not accumulated any wealth and even today the descendents are mechanically genuises who do not use their talents except in a small way for nominal consideration.

It is told that James Kimball, in the early 1830's built a steam tractor which he drove around the countryside until its copper boiler blew up. He was an expert gunsmith, a calling followed by his descendents. In the days when the steamboat on the river was the only mode of transportation, and supplies and repairs impossible to obtain, James Kimball never failed to repair the grist - mills, cotton gins, sawmills and other necessary machinery with his home-made lathe, files, and tools in the crude blacksmith shop. With the true love of a mechanic he sought neither great remuneration nor fame, but performed miracles in his own limited country.

The sewing machine was only an incident in his life. Once made, he turned his talents to other things.

Tradition is that Howe stopped off at New Madrid from a boat while it was tied up on the river, and hearing of the sewing machine contacted Kimball, who exhibited it at his home. Years afterwards, the news came back that Howe had patented a machine.

The machine is mute evidence so convincing that to see is to know; it is far advanced when compared to the crude machine first made by Howe, and differs from it so radically in design and workmanship that there can be no doubt that it is the authentic first invention.

It is perhaps well that Howe applied the principals he observed and patented it for the world to use, for Kimball had no thought of gain or of money, but only of making things; and it might have been many years longer before the machine would have been given to the world.

Yet the fact remains that the world does not know, and no credit has been given to the genius that perfected the first practical sewing machine.

New GM Boss Developed Auto Interest Early

DETROIT (AP) — Back in 1914, 5-year-old Ed Cole climbed into a 1908 Buick on his father's farm in Barme, Mich., released the handbrake and sent the car rolling into a tree.

The damage was slight, and the scolding the curious kid got didn't dampen his enthusiasm for the horseless carriage.

Now, 53 years later, Edward Nicholas Cole is president of the General Motors Corp.

Cole's election climaxed a GM career that began in 1929 when he enrolled in the General Motors Institute at Flint, Mich., under sponsorship of the corporation's Cadillac division. The job into which he steps paid James M. Roche, the new chairman, $720,000 in salary and bonuses last year.

Like Roche before him, Cole carries no college diploma into the president's office. Roche's education came via correspondence courses. Cole's ended at graduation and assigned him to special engineering project.

Known as an engineering genius, Cole personally was responsible for the basic design concept of the Chevrolet Corvair, a lightweight, rear-engine car.

He is genial and articulate and is known about the GM building in Detroit as a man who has a cheery "hello" for everyone, including the elevator operators and the cleaning crews that dust up at night.

A vice president since 1956, when he was named general manager of the Chevrolet division, Cole had been an executive vice president since 1965 with jurisdiction over all the general staff activities of the corporation.

Cole spent his boyhood on his father's farm, milking cows and delivering milk before school. While still in his teens, he sold tractors during summer vacations by driving them around the countryside and giving on-the-spot demonstrations.

It was the ambition of his parents that he became a lawyer and he entered Junior College.

Student Patriot Hopes Effort Will Spread

WAKEFIELD, Mass. (AP) — A 19-year-old high school student who organized a patriotic rally that drew a police estimated 25,000 persons to the town common says he hopes it will touch off nationwide public demonstrations in support of American servicemen.

"I hope this will spark a tidal wave of enthusiasm across the nation," Paul P. Christopher Jr. said Sunday after serving as master of ceremonies for a 75-minute program of prayers and speeches.

Flag-waving youths, including grammar school youngsters and members of three motorcycle gangs, interrupted the speakers with boisterous cheers and chanting of patriotic slogans.

Although Police Chief J. Merrit Wenzel's estimate of a 25,000 turnout was about one-fourth what Christopher had said he hoped for, the Wakefield High School senior termed the rally "a complete success" when he met with newsmen.

He said the rally was held as a gesture of support for American servicemen in Vietnam and not to take sides on "whether or not we should be in Vietnam."

Christopher said he decided to organize the demonstration after becoming "burned up" at an anti-Vietnam protest in downtown Boston Oct. 16 when about 200 youths either burned what they claimed were their draft cards or turned the documents over to clergymen.

Wakefield, a town of about 25,000 residents, is located about eight miles north of Boston.

Gov. John A. Volpe told the crowds at Christopher's rally, "Patriotism is said by some people to be old-fashioned now. But it never should be out of fashion. It can stand revival. Let's make it fashionable together."

Christopher dropped out of high school to run a sandwich shop he still operates, but later returned to school and says he plans to enlist in the Army after graduation.

Chinese Hippies More Militant

HONG KONG (AP) — Militant Communist China has its own hippies, but with a difference.

Many of the Red Guards, Chinese arrivals from Red China report, have lost their revolutionary zeal after more than a year of drifting around the country. They can be seen in various parts of the country—with young boys hugging scantily dressed girls at railway stations, in parks and other public places.

The arrivals say Communist authorities forbid people to take pictures of the hippie-like Red Guards.

One Chinese seaman who stayed in China for more than two months said: "All Chinese hippielands are strictly off limits to foreign visitors."

While the American hippies advocate love and nonviolence, the Chinese ones are known for their militancy. And they steal food and loot, according to the travelers.

Clashes between rival Red Guard gangs in China have been reported frequently.

Recently the Communist authorities ordered all Red Guards to return to their schools, which were closed in the summer of 1966. But, the arrivals say, in many schools neither teachers nor students turned up.

"The teachers are afraid of vengeful action from students, while the students, after more than a year of free traveling and comparatively easy life, are reluctant to go back to school where some kind of discipline must be kept," one source said.

He said many Chinese hippies have no homes to go back to because "many parents were liquidated during the current power struggle in China."

Explosive Power of Gasoline Demonstrated

Gasoline is dangerous because the average person is unaware of its ignition point, William D. Foreman, Benton, field representative in Scott and Mississippi counties for the burn injury prevention program of the Missouri division of health.

"A man may smoke a cigarette while his gasoline tank is being filled many times without endangering himself only to be caught in explosive flames when air conditions are right," he told the Rotary club at the Rustic Rock.

He warned men to be careful with gasoline and propane and women to be careful with hot grease because frequent use may cause them to become careless.

"Gasoline at home should be kept in a red tin can and labeled," he said.

Foreman produced an audible explosion with one drop of gasoline mixed with oxygen and set off by a spark. Assisting him with fire hazard demonstrations, including one on gasoline fumes, was Moody Summitt, Poplar Bluff, field coordinator of the burn injury prevention program.

"Heat, air and fuel" are ingredients of a fire, Foreman explained.

He urged that directions be read on cans containing chemical preparations, demonstrated how a hair spray and insecticide can become a blow torch if exposed to open flame and warned that aerosol cans send fragments into the air if exploding when burned in an incinerator.

Foreman demonstrated how a house with overloaded electrical circuits could catch fire.

"These fires usually occur between midnight and 6 a.m. and if the flames don't reach the occupants, they may perish from exposure to noxious gases or overheated air," he said.

Club President Fred Koch reported that Thatcher Eckam, W. Z. Baker, Charles Green and he attended a district meeting of Rotary club at the Rustic Rock.

Gary Estes, insurance adjuster, was introduced as a new member of the club. Emily Bruce played the guitar, sang and played the piano, accompanying Green, who led club singing.
